Dispatch from the American Government to Its Minister to Prussia Hoping for a Cessation to the War.

PRAGUE, September 12.—A Berlin telegram to the Politique, of this city says the great sensation was created by the dispatch of the American Government to its envoy at the Prussian capital, expressing the hope that there will now be a cessation of the war in view of the fact that its aim, the dethronement of Napoleon, has been accomplished. No sooner had Minister Bancroft communicated the dispatch to Von Thiel and Ulenborg, than it was sent to King William by a special courier.

The War Not Anti-Catholic.

BERLIN, September 12.—M. De Loschowesk I, Archbishop of Gresen and Posen, has issued a circular declaring that the war on the part of Prussia is not in any way anti-Catholic.

King William's Account of the Laon Explosion.

The following dispatch from the King to the Queen has been received, dated ten o'clock on Sunday night: "The citadel of Laon exploded after the surrender, just as the Prussians were preparing to enter. Three hundred and fifty were killed, including two hundred Mobile Guards. Many were shockingly mutilated. William of Mecklenburg was wounded. There must have been treason."

Official Report of Capitulation of Sedan.

BERLIN, September 12.—The official report of the capitulation of Sedan states that the total of the prisoners taken was 122,000. The crowd of the wounded has been reduced since the reopening of the railways, and all the dead in the fields around the city have been buried.

Italy, Austria and Russia Have Asked an Armistice.

BRUSSELS, September 12, 4 P. M.—Italy, Austria and Russia are agreed in principle and have authorized Russia to ask Prussia for an armistice. A dispatch to that effect has been sent by telegraph to Berlin, but no answer is yet received.

Lord Lyons, who has heretofore acted as the intermediary between France and Prussia, has resigned the task in favor of Olazaga, the Spanish Minister.

Concealment of Eugenie in Brussels—French Wounded.

BRUSSELS, September 12—The Empress Eugenie, while on her way to England, remained concealed three days in the environs of this city.

A convoy of French wounded has arrived here.

FRANCE.

Surrender of Laon—Frightful Explosion.

PARIS, September 12.—Important advices have been received through other sources, confirming the former dispatches reporting the surrender of Laon, and the partial destruction of the city and the Prussian command by the explosion of the stores of ammunition within the citadel. The following advices have been received relative to this terrible disaster: The city had refused to surrender to the Prussian column under the Duke of Mecklenburg-Schwerin, and that General prepared to bombard the city, disposed his train, and was in position to shell the city, which had obdurately refused to capitulate.

A second summons to surrender was then dispatched to the French commander under cover of a parley. The second summons was honored, and an answer returned that in order to save the town from destruction by the fire of the Prussian artillery, and to prevent the imperiling of the lives of the non-combatants, the town would be surrendered. The citadel of Laon then capitulated. The head of the Prussian column then filed in through the gates of the city and occupied the defenses. The garrison laid down their arms and the Gardes Mobile were liberated. The Prussians had not retained possession long when a terrible catastrophe occurred.

The magazine which had been connected by a train with the citadel, the latter being mined, exploded, communicating with the powder in the citadel, and the greater portion of the walls were destroyed. The concussion was tremendous. The walls of the citadel were overthrown, killing the Prussian staff and several hundred Prussian soldiers, and also many of the Garde Mobile, who were in the vicinity of the magazine at the time. The French commandant survived, though wounded. He surrendered only to save the town.

Attack on Toul—Prussians Repulsed at Montmedy—Meaux Surrounded.

PARIS, September 12, Noon.—The Ministry has just made public the following important intelligence: The Germans attacked Toul on Saturday, at 5 o'clock in the morning, and persisted in the assault until nine in the evening. They were, however, constantly repulsed, and many of their batteries dismantled. More than ten thousand Prussians were placed hors du combat.

At Montmedy, on Thursday, the garrison splendidly repulsed the Prussian attack.

The Prussians have surrounded Meaux. They have arrived in force at Crecy, and are approaching Noisy le Grand.

The Germans are now in force at Sezanne, and are advancing along the confluence of the Marne. They are expected at Coulomoneires, thirteen miles east-southeast of Meaux tomorrow. Their scouts penetrate in every direction.

The heads of the German armies from the east and southeast are converging towards Lason along the valleys of the Aisne.

A Letter from Marsal MacMahon.

The Ministry have communicated publicly a letter from Marshal MacMahon to them under date of September 8th, from Pauer aus Bois. He says that when his wounds have so far healed as to permit it, he shall ask to be removed to some German town.

Intervention.

Le Soir contains an article which advocates the intervention of America in the struggle between France and Prussia. Le Soir declares that it is time that America should cease surrounding her diplomacy with a Chinese wall. There has been no opportunity more favorable for America to honorably assert her claim to the right of a voice in the European Congress.

Paris is cheered this morning by a rumor that Russia is insisting on an armistice. Also, that the United States has interposed, and sent three decided dispatches to Berlin. It is said that the Prussian advance has stopped in consequence.

Paris Not to be Bombarded.

The Siecle says that King William, replying to the address of the diplomatic agents concerning the anticipated bombardment of Paris, said: "I trust it will not be necessary to resort to extreme measures after the arrival of my armies under the walls of Paris. I expect to reduce the city by surrounding it and destroying all means of escape."

No Danger of Famine at Metz.

Advices from Marshal Bazaine at Metz report that the garrison is in no immediate danger of distress from famine or assault, the magazines being well stocked with provisions and ammunition.

Replenishing the Treasury of the Republic.

The corporations of Limages and Marseilles have voted heavy war contributions to the support of the Republic. Extraordinary measures are being taken in aid of the threatened sister municipality of Paris. Other and more important donations will soon be tendered to the treasury of the Republic.

The Outbreak in Italy.

PARIS, September 12.—Signor Mordena arrived in Paris. He brings assurances that the Italian Government has determined to forestall all revolutionary movements in Rome and Italy by an official occupation of Roman territory, without the slightest intention of harming the Pope, but preserve the Catholic world from a great catastrophe. Several members of the College of Cardinals have given in their adhesion to the necessity of this step. The Italian army now holds all the roads north and south leading into Roman territory. An Italian squadron is at Civita Vecchia. No conflict is anticipated with the Zouaves, General Renseler, the War Minister, having giving it as his opinion that the Papal force do not justify any attempt at resistance. The Prussian Government has notified the Italian Government that it has no intention of interfering in any way with the question of Rome. Upon the occupation of the city a popular vote will be taken throughout the Papal States upon the annexation of Papal territory to Italy.

Reports of an Armistice Increasing—Departure of Thiers on a Secret Mission to England, Austria and Russia.

PARIS, September 12.—It is officially announced that Thiers will leave this evening for London, Vienna and St. Petersburg on a secret mission.

The Prussians were at Melan last night.

The reports of an armistice increase in consistency. The diplomatic corps defers its departure from the city.

Corsairs Expected to Attack Marseilles—An Army for Paris.

MARSEILLES, September 12.—Esquerros hearing that two Corsairs had passed through the Straits of Gibralter, has ordered armed preparation to be made here to repel any attack.

Twenty thousand volunteers left yesterday for Paris.

The municipal council unanimously declared that municipal corporations must participate in the national defense.

Ovation to America and Minister Washburne.

PARIS, September 12.—Minister Washburne to-day, while on his way to the central telegraph office, to send a dispatch, was recognized in front of the building by the crowd. Cheers arose, and the crowd increased, and the Minister received a most enthusiastic ovation. Mr. Washburne was much moved.

This evening the employees of the telegraph company and many others assembled in front of the American Legation and made another demonstration in honor of the government of the United States and its representative.

A Bit of Dissatisfaction—The Courts Removed to Tours.

La France says that while the Republic is everywhere welcomed, the delay in meeting of the Constituent Assembly causes dissatisfaction.

The Supreme Tribunals of Law have been removed to Tours, where they are now in session.

Skirmish at Chateau Thierry—Prussians Repulsed—Prospects Favorable for an Armistice—Opposition to the Republic—Strength of the Prussian Forces Advancing on Paris—Bazaine Threatens to Shoot Army Officers Advising Surrender.

Special to the Tribune.]

PARIS, September 12, 10 A. M.—At 1:30 o'clock this morning a heavy skirmish took place between the Eighth Squadron of French Dragoons, which garrisoned Chateau Thierry, and the Prussian advanced guard, which was repulsed. More Prussians are to be sent before Strasburg. The Prussians found in the Emperor's desk a detailed statement of the Prussian forces, numbering a million men, 1,600 cannon and 160,000 horses.

The Gaulois reports that England, in the name of the neutral powers, asks the King of Prussia for fifteen days' armistice. No reply is received, but there are fair prospects of assent.

The special correspondent of the Tribune at Rheims, writing on the 6th, says: The King's headquarters were established here yesterday, and are to remain till the 9th, to give all the troops time to concentrate, including what can be spared from Metz, the seven North German Corps, besides two Bavarian and the Wurtemburg Corps on the road unhindered, according to the official report six fall cavalry divisions also. The main force are expected to reach Paris on the 13th or 14th. When the regiments now coming forward arrive, and reserves also join thier regiments, the German army will certainly reach and probably exceed four hundred thousand.

The inhabitants everywhere reproach the Emperor, but do not favor a republic. They are all anxious for peace, and mostly in favor of the Compte de Paris. The Tribune's special correspondent at Berlin, 9th, says the Duke of Mecklenburg, with the First and Seventh divisions of the Ninth corps, heretofore in Schleswig-Holstein, and two divisions of reserves and Landwehr, being the army formed at Homburg in the Palatinate, is on the way to Paris, and elsewhere all the line troops and reserve battalions are gone. The guard and garrison service is performed by the Landwehr. The mustering here and at Torgan in Silesia continues. Landwehr officers absolved from military obligations years ago are notified to hold themselves for eventual service. Bismarck has said he will have such a tremendous force in France as must crush resistance, and especially prevent everywhere the organization of new forces. But for the national clamour for Alsace and Lorraine, it is certain Bismarck would be content with Metz and Strasburg held as neutal fortresses.

It is reported that Bazaine not only refused capitulation when informed that the Emperor and MacMahon's army were prisoners, and when the Emperor advised the surrender of Metz, but declared in a storming passion that he would not respect Napoleon's wishes, and would shoot any French officer advising surrender.

It is believed that Russia and Austria have rejected all overtures, and will not stir for Republican France. The Journal de St. Petersburg semi-official, tells the French substantially that they had better yield Alsace and so much of Lorraine as Germany needs. The recognition of the French Republic by America was to be expected, but the Berlin foreign office thinks the extreme warmth of America's declaration implies a partial withdrawal of sympathy from Prussia, following so closely after Secretary Fish's refusal to protest against the expulsion of the Germans from France.

The Baltic blockade is ineffective. Vessels enter and leave Danzig and Konigsburg freely. The French fleet has great difficulty in getting coal. The expense is enormous. The blockade will probably soon be abandoned.

The Siege of Strasburg.

The Tribune's special correspondent, writing from Carlsruhe on the 8th, says: The Strasburg besieging army is constantly reinforced. Their numbers are nearly 70,000. Sorties by the defenders are desperate, but futile. Batteries are rapidly completing, and the heaviest guns are placed in the nearest parallels. The French sharpshooters are doing much mischief on the Upper Rhine. The railway between Basle and Freirburg has been repeatedly cut at Sohlinger. Passenger trains are fired on and passengers wounded.

Inhuman Treatment of Germans.

Eight hundred Germans who had been expelled from France reached Carlsruhe on the 6th. They are workingmen, and were compelled to leave all their property behind. They were disgracefully treated while passing through France. Men, women and children were deprived of food and sleep, transported in open cattle cars, drenched and insulted, and arrived here half dead.

The Excitement in Italy.

The Tribune correspondent at Rome telegraphs on Monday: The troops have crossed the frontier. General Cardova has addressed a proclamation to the Roman people. There is great enthusiasm and excitement among the troops and people. The Tribune correspondent at Florence on the 7th, says: Troops are violently excited and impatient. The Cabinet is reconsidering its resolution, but the people are bent on going to Rome with or without the Government. Palermo, the most reactionary of Italian cities, was illuminated last night on false reports that the troops were crossing the frontier. Ricosoli is still here. Pazza De San Martino will probably be sent as envoy to the Pope. All Italy meantime is arming. All first class troops having been called out the second class are to follow. Thirty thousand men will join the standards on the 20th. Four regiments of grenadiers passed through this morning to the frontier.

France has recalled all the French soldiers under the Papal flag, two thousand in number. Many towns of the Papal States have already proclaimed for a Provisional Government. The ministry is discordant.

Activity on the Paris Bourse.

PARIS, September 12.—The successes at Toul and Montmedy, together with the reported halt in the enemy's advance, have led to more activity on the bourse and considerable buying on speculative accounts.

ENGLAND.

The Prussian Army Halted at the Request of Bismarck, to Consider the Proposal for an Armistice.

LONDON, September 12.—The Prussian army has halted twenty-five miles from Paris, at the special request of Bismarck, to consider the Russian and Austrian proposition for an armistice.

Dispatches from Paris state the departure of certain members of the French Government for Tours has been indefinitely postponed. Gaulois also states that the diplomatic body have also postponed their departure.

Paris Will Fight to the Last.

Special to the World.]

LONDON, September 12.—Paris will fight to the last. The present material for the army is splendid and plucky. There is no rioting, no singing now; perfect order prevails. The streets are full of armed men. Gen. Trochu is satisfied he can hold out. Part of the enemy's forces are to be near the walls Tuesday, and the rest will follow rapidly. The inhabitants are speculating as to where the bombs will fall. The walls are a mile and a half from the outer boulevard, and the outlying forts are a mile from the walls, so that the enemy's guns must take a position three miles from the outer boulevards. This calms the fears of the Parisians. Meantime negotiations are very actively going on.

The statement of the Gaulois that England demands an armistice is not true. It has been ascertained from official authority in Downing street that England has sent no note to Prussia. Jules Favre is expected here to-night. If he asks the English government to offer terms, it will do so, but not if unasked. Earl Granville will be present at the conference with Favre. This intelligence is official.

The Archbishop of Canterbury offers an offertory for the sick and wounded, in all the churches of his diocese.

The Pope Protests.

The Pope has sent a protest to the powers against the occupation of his territory, but will not resist by arms. He is coming to England in a British frigate, and Arch-Bishop Manning is making preparations for his reception.

There has been another massacre of Missionaries in China.

Gladstone Alarmed.

Gladstone is alarmed at the spread of Republicanism in Europe.

The French Fortifications and Fleets to be Fully Manned—No More Private Telegrams from Paris—The Prussians Cannot March in Without Stubborn Resistance.

LONDON, September 12.—Orders have been issued by the Government at Paris for the fortifications at Havre, Marseilles, Dunkirk and other points. The quotas of men of the large French war steamers are to be filled to the utmost, and the vessels held ready to weigh anchor at a moment's notice.

Telegrams from the seat of war in the papers here to-day are a perfect chaos of wild and contradictory statements. The reports forwarded to New York will be in the main correct.

The Telegraphic Bureau in Paris has begun to refuse to receive private telegrams for transmission. Garibaldi is expected at Paris.

The Times says that France has been cured of military dictators.

The Paris correspondent of the Times says that a stubborn defense of Paris is certain, if the city is besieged. The idea that the Prussians will walk in without difficulty is an entirely mistaken one.

The Movement in Favor of Peace.

LONDON, September 12.—The Standard and other British journals urge English intervention in the Franco-Prussian war as their duty, and a neglect of which will involve their dishonor.

The Legations of Russia and Austria are busily at work in the interest of peace, and it is believed they would already have secured an armistice had not the English Government blocked the way by its hesitation and half hostile attitude.

The English government is believed to have a secret understanding with the King of Prussia adverse to the wishes of Count Bismarck, in order to secure, if possible, the suppression of the Republic. It is stated on high authority that Count Bismarck desires neither Alsace nor Lorraine, and is anxious to secure peace as soon as possible, but King William is bitterly opposed to any negotiations with Republican authorities, and insists upon advancing to Paris to crush the revolution before the fever can extend to Germany.

The governments of Russia and Austria have given their assent in support of the proposition for a fortnight's armistice.

The latest intelligence from the Prussian headquarters is that in reply to the propositions made through the Austrian Legation, King William declares that he will listen to propositions of peace only in the Tuilleries and from the Imperial Government of France.

The Isolation of Paris.

The city of Paris is beginning to be isolated. We have had no mail to-day from London, and no dispatches have come through by telegraph except for the newspapers. The government exercises supervision of the office in the Place de la Bourse, from which alone dispatches are allowed to be sent. It is conducted fairly, but it is positive. The aspect of the city is perfectly tranquil, though not at all gay. No fears of mob violence are entertained by any one, notwithstanding rumors to that effect, which seem to be spread abroad in England and Belgium. Public order was never more perfect than since the proclamation of the Republic.

Postal and telegraphic communication between Paris and the outside world cease to-day. The lines of communication not interrupted by the Prussians have been destroyed by the French themselves.

Rochefort Controlling the Radicals.

Henri Rochefort, who was so much feared, is in office, and manifests the most conservative temper. He is of great use in controlling the extreme radicals.

The Imperial Captive.

The Prussian authorities surrounded the Emperor on his journey to Wilhelmshohe with exquisite delicacy, in consideration of the feeling entertained for the prisoner. Advices from Cassel say nothing of the magnificent treatment of Napoleon would denote that he is regarded as a prisoner. He seems rather an honored guest of Prussia.

Effects of the Recent Movements in Italy.

Advices from Florence are to the effect that the Italian troops will enter Roman territory to-day. Italy's ultimatum substantially strips the Pope of his temporal power. The local authority of the Italian territory, however, remains undisturbed by the Italians, and the Government announces a wish to concur with any power in guaranteeing the independence of the Pontiff.

A dispatch from Rome, dated the 11th, says: Signor Mastene, an Italian Envoy to the Papal Government, arrived in this city on Friday, and had an interview with Cardinal Antonelli. His mission was presumed to have some connection with the approaching occupation of Rome by Italy. No serious resistance, upon the part of the Papal army is anticipated, and indeed such a course is understood to be counselled against by prominent ecclesiastics. The leading Prelates advocate coming to an arrangement whereby the authority of the Pope shall be so far maintained as to be represented by ambassadors abroad. The Leonine city will only owe allegiance to the Pope.

Addresses to the King of Italy are being numerously circulated and signed by the Italians, asking for the occupation by King Victor Emanuel of the city of Rome.

L'Opinione newspaper says that the Italian flag now floats in triumph over several places.

L'Gazetta Popolo denies the rumor that the foreign powers of Europe will oppose any of the measures taken by the Italian Government.

Reception of Napoleon at Cassel.

OSTEND, September 12—The morning Zeitung, of Hesse Cassel, gives the particulars of the arrival of the Emperor Napoleon at Cassel: He was accompanied by Generals Felix Douay and LeBrun as prisoners on parole, and by a brilliant staff of French officers on parole. Prussian civil and military authorities of Hesse in full uniform received him at the station, with a company of Prussian infantry as a guard of honor and a squadron of hussars keeping back the people. The Emperor, who was received with an Imperial salute, wore the uniform of a Lieutenant General, but no sword. His breast was covered with orders and he wore an undress scarlet kessie. He is quite corpulent, and looked very gray. The Empress Eugenie is still at the Marine Hotel in Hastings, attended by Ferdinand De Lesseps, Madame De Lesseps and Madame Thierry. All the ladies of the Court who came with her Majesty to Belgium remained in that country.

The People of the Papal Territory to Choose by Ballot Between the Pope and the King for their Ruler.

LONDON, September 12.—The Daily Telegraph has special dispatches stating that an arrangement for the occupation of the Papal territory is agreed to. A plebiscitum is to be taken by which the inhabitants are to decide for the Pope or King as civil ruler, the decision to be binding on both. Meantime the Italian troops will hold the Roman territory until the voting is over, and, if the result is adverse to the King, he will withdraw. The Papal towns are sending petitions to the Italian government for protection. Naples urges the King not to hesitate to make Rome the capital of the nation. The official journal at Florence justifies the occupation of the patrimony of St. Peter, maintaining it as being as necessary for the Pope as for Italy. The journal hopes that the Pontiff will accept the guardianship of the Italian Government.

Six French Iron Clads Off the Goodwins.

LONDON, September 12.—Six French iron clads were seen off the Goodwins this morning. Their course was southwest.

Outbreak in Viterbo in the Papal Territory.

An outbreak is reported in the province of Viterbo. The people surrounded the Papal Zouaves in their intrenchments at Viteroo, Montefiaxone and Valentano, and threatened to attack them. Order was restored in the name of the King of Italy.

Minor Items from Paris.

Special to the Herald.]

LONDON, September 12.—A correspondent writes from Paris on the 10th instant: Paris is quiet. There is great activity in preparations for defense. The National Guards occupy the ramparts, and the forts are fully manned. The arming of the populace is going on rapidly, and all are being drilled. A thousand francs-tireurs have been sent to join the four thousand regulars now obstructing the Prussian advance. All the bridges around Paris have been blown up. It is asserted that MacMahon wished to retreat to Paris, but was prevented by Polikao's order. He will justify himself to the public when recovered from his wounds. Several of the Gardes Mobile, belonging to wealthy families, have disappeared. These deserters have been denounced before the military tribunals. Gen. Trochu has called on them to return to their posts, or take the consequences. It is estimated that there are 200,000 Gardes Mobile in Paris. The state of the streets is fearful. The Tuileries gardens are occupied by artillery. Four Generals, one Colonel and five Commandants have been sent to a German fortress for refusing to sign the capitulation of Sedan. Among the new appointments are two young men employed on journals at 300 francs and 200 francs per month, who have been named as prefects. Political meetings are announced for next week to bring forward candidates for a new Assembly. Girardin goes to the provinces to stimulate resistance.

Minor War Items.

LONDON, September 12.—It is reported that 50,000 francs have been offered for a messenger who will succeed in communicating with the commander of Metz. One man who undertook the service has been shot by the Prussians. It is said the Pope is condemning the offer of refuge on board of the British frigate off the Tiber.

Among the rumors from Paris is one that a subterranean passage has been discovered extending from the heart of the Capital to points beyond the fortifications.

Prussian Loan to be Placed in London

LONDON, September 12.—Agents have arrived here from Berlin, who, it is anticipated are seeking to place a Prussian loan on the market.

SPAIN.

Republican Demonstrations Continue—Convocation of the Cortes Demanded.

MADRID, September 12.—Demonstrations of sympathy with the French republic continue in the northern provinces.

The republicans in this city have signed an address demanding the convocation of the Cortes.

Text of the Official Dispatch Recently Sent Abroad from Washington.

WASHINGTON, September 12.—The only official dispatch recently sent abroad relating to the war was on Friday, when President Grant was in Washington, addressed to Minister Bancroft, but copies of which were also transmitted to Ministers Washburne and Motley, to the effect that, while we cannot act in connection with other nations, yet if our good offices should be requested by both the belligerents we should be happy to extend them, with a view of bringing about a peace between the two great powers, with which we have traditional friendship. Our government will scrupulously abstain from interfering with the affairs of foreign nations, if for no other reason than because it would set an example and afford a pretext for foreign governments hereafter to interfere with our own, and hence it expresses no opinion as to the merits of the war. The telegram to Minister Bancroft was courteously worded, so as not to give any ground for doubt as to our actual position of carefully abstaining from foreign alliances as to the belligerents, while always ready to exercise the offices of friendship when they shall be desired by the nations at war.

Protest Against the Continuance of the War Against the French Republic.

NEW YORK, September 12—A movement is on footamong the leading Democratic Germans of this city, at which it is thought large numbers will participate, to issue a protest to their fellow countrymen in the Fatherland against prosecuting a war against a Republic. While the war was against the hated Napoleon and his dynasty—while it was a war between despots—their sympathies naturally were with the German people at home. But circumstances are now changed, and the tyrant who threatened the spoliation of German territory, is powerless, and the people, who acted but as his tools in entering upon the war, have reorganized the State upon a basis which ought to commend it to the sympathy of the Germans, as the Empire merited their hatred.

They call upon their countrymen not to be led by an ambitious leader to further despoil a people newly emerged from a despotism under which they have groaned for twenty years.

Action of the French Republicans in New York.

NEW YORK, September 12.—An enthusiastic meeting of the French Union Republican League was held yesterday morning at 100 Prince street, for the patriotic purpose of promoting and forwarding volunteers to France, and for the collection of funds for the sufferers by the war. A hearty acceptance of the Republic was the prevailing sentiment of those present. A resolution was adopted thanking the Irishmen who support the cause of Liberalism in Europe, and it was also resolved to celebrate the proclamation of the Republic by a mass meeting on the 22d of September, the anniversary of the first French revolution of 1792.

POLITICAL.

CHICAGO, September 12.—A special from Washington to the Chicago Evening Post says it is ascertained from official sources that the President has tendered the English mission to a gentleman residing in the West who is better known for his literary attainments and scholarly accomplishments than as an active politician. It is not known whether he will accept or not, but the presumption is that he will.

BOSTON, September 12—Wendell Phillips accepts the Labor Reform nomination for Governor, in the following letter: "I have no wish to be Governor of Massachusetts, and flattering as is this confidence, I thoroughly dislike to have my name drawn into party politics, for I belong to no political party. But I see nothing in your platform from which I dissent, and the struggle which underlies your movement has my fullest and heartiest sympathies. Capital and Labor are partners, not enemies. They stand face to face, in order to bring about a fair division of the common profit. I am fully convinced that hitherto legislation has been hastened too much and most unfairly to the side of capital. Hereafter we should be impartial. The law should do all it can to give the masses more leisure, a more complete education, better opportunities and a fair share of the profits. It is a shame to our Christianity and our civilization for our social system to provide and expect that one man at seventy years of age should be lord of many thousands of dollars, while hundreds of other men, who have made as good use of their talents and opportunities, lean on charity for their daily bread. Of course there must be irregularities, but the best minds and hearts of the land should give themselves to the work of changing this gross injustice, this appalling inequality. I feel sure that the readiest way to turn public thought and effort into this channel is for the workingmen to organize a political party. If my name will strengthen your movement you are welcome to it. Allow me to add, though working for a large vote, if we fail we should not be discouraged by a small one. Last year's experience shows your strength and the anti-slavery movement proves how quickly a correct principle wins the assent of earnest men. Yours truly,

"WENDELL PHILLIPS."

NEW ORLEANS, September 12.—The Democratic State Convention met to-day, ex-Governor Woodford acting President. Some twenty colored delegates were present. The Committee on Credentials reported in favor of their admission on the same footing with the whites, which will probably be adopted to-morrow by an overwhelming majority.

CINCINNATI, September 12.—Hon. Milton Saylor's acceptance of the nomination of Democratic candidate for Congress in the First Ohio District will be published to-morrow.

THE OIL REGIONS.

Report for the Month of August.

Large Increase in Production—Development—New Wells Drilling—Stock of Petroleum in the Region—Exports, &c., &c.

BIG STRIKE AT FAGUNDUS.

FAGUNDUS, Pa., September 12, 1870.—The new well of Lee & Thomas, finished last night, is doing over three hundred barrels per day.

W.

[From the Titusville Herald of yesterday.]

THE PRODUCTION.

The month of August witnessed an increase of more than eighteen hundred barrels per day over the average daily production of July. This increase is larger than of any single month during the last year, and the average for the month under review exceeds that of August, 1869, by more than five thousand barrels. Though there was a considerable falling off in the yield of the older tracts, especially in the vicinity of Shamburg and Parker's Landing, the many large wells struck during the month, and those completed during the latter part of July, served to swell the increase far above all decline upon the different tracts and farms throughout the region.

The following table shows the production during August, 1870:

	Bbls.
Total shipment of crude for August of bbls of 45 gallons each	466,835
Add to reduce to bbls. of 43 gallons each	21,713
Total shipment of bbls of 43 gallons each	488,548
Stock on hand August 1st	356,908
Stock on hand September 1st	419,477
Add increase on September 1st	62,569
Total production during August	551,117
Average per day for 31 days	17,777
Average per day in August, 1869	12,157
Daily increase Aug. 1870, over Aug. 1869	5,620

In the vicinity of Upper Cherry Run the decline aggregated between three and four hundred barrels. This decrease was principally upon the Independent, Shamburg, Chicago, Clark and Emery tracts, and varied from ten to one hundred barrels, as shown in the table of production of all farms and tracts. In the vicinity of Petroleum Center, the Woods, Niagara and several minor tracts, exhibit a falling off of from ten to twenty barrels each, while upon the Columbia, Cornplanter, Clapp, and upon the Corbett & Beers farms the production is from twenty to fifty barrels less than during July. Pithole and the farms lying in the vicinity also show a decline amounting to about one hundred barrels in the aggregate.

In the vicinity of Parker's Landing there was a falling off of three hundred barrels daily. There are other tracts not mentioned, where the decrease was from two to ten barrels, while many exhibit a corresponding increase, or no material change in the average yield for the month.

The greatest increase for the month occurred upon the McCray farm near Petroleum Center, and upon the farms in the vicinity of West Hickory. The average increase upon the former being fourteen hundred and fifty-six barrels daily, and in the latter locality, one thousand and thirty-one barrels. At the close of the month both localities were producing a still greater amount of oil per day, but the figures given, are those showing the average yield per day, and are correct and reliable.

The Dalzell, William McCray and W. M'Clintock farms also show an increase varying from twenty to one hundred and twenty barrels as specified in the table of farms and their production. The Rynd, Tolls, McClintock and Buchanan farms also produced from thirty to ninety barrels more oil daily than during the month previous. Several other tracts show slight gains, but those mentioned are the farms and tracts upon which the principal gains occurred. In many localities the yield has been uniform throughout the month, and the production has been sustained, and in several instances largely increased by the use of torpedoes. In the vicinity, of Parker's Landing the production has steadily declined, notwithstanding the use of torpedoes and the completion of new wells. Considerable benzine has been used in some localities, and the gravity of the product visibly affected by this means, yet as a general rule the quantity used for cleaning out the wells is much less than that consumed a year since.

DEVELOPMENT AND TERRITORY.

The two principal points at which operations were carried on and new development occurred, were upon the McCray and adjoining farms near Petroleum Center, and upon the Fagundus, Snedeker, Tuttle and Scott farms near West Hickory. Upon the McCray farm several wells were completed between the 25th of July and the 31st of August that not only yielded from one hundred and fifty to three hundred and fifty barrels each, upon the start, but increased steadily, or maintained this production through the entire month without any marked decline. This farm had at the close of the month nineteen wells in process of drilling, and from ten to fifteen wells were also going down on neighboring tracts. The reports circulated of large yields of salt water from the larger wells upon this farm were without foundation, and there were no marked indications of a decline upon this farm at the close of the month. No attempts have been made to develop the farms lying to the outside and east of the McCray & Dalzell farms, and the oil belt if it exists has not yet been traced from this point, the McCray farm itself claiming the attention of operators for the present.

At West Hickory developments have been steadily conducted and many wells completed, but the reckless operating that marked the opening of the oil business in this vicinity has long since ceased, and in a majority of cases the wells completed during the month of August have proved productive and paying. The Snedeker or Wilkins tract exhibits a larger daily production than any other farm in this vicinity, the average yield for August being nine hundred and ten barrels. The Fagundus farm ranks next in production, the average daily production being six hundred barrels, while the Tuttle and Scott farms show a yield of two hundred and twenty and four hundred and fifty-five barrels respectively. About twenty wells were going down in this vicinity at the close of the month, of which the Snedeker and Fagundus tracts claim the larger portion.

Upon several of the farms in the vicinity of lower Cherry Run wells have been completed that materially increased the yield in that vicinity, and a considerable number of wells are being drilled in this locality and upon farms bordering upon Oil Creek, with fair indications of success.

At Parker's the southern portion of the territory shows a decided falling off, which is not maintained, however, in that part of the district lying further up the river, where many wells have been completed that are producing oil in small quantities, and by the use of torpedoes the older wells, in a great measure, revived. The attention of operators in this vicinity is now being directed to that part of the territory lying directly west of Lawrenceburg and south of the Robinson farms, on what is known as the Wm. Parker farm No. 2. No wells have yet been drilled at this locality, but preparations for active operations are in progress, and it is thought that the coming year will witness large developments in that direction.

In the vicinity of Pioneer, on the flats, adjoining the Boyd and McIlheny farms, the old abandoned wells, which are numerous in this vicinity, have all been leased, and the majority of the holes plugged, while several of the same will be pumped as previously practiced upon the Tarr farm. It is supposed that considerable oil will, by this means, be produced from this abondoned territory. The present large production, the low price of the product and several other causes have conspired to render development in new and untried territory hazardous and unprofitable, and the number of wells being drilled at the close of the month is less than for a year previous. There are now drilling three hundred and six new wells.

THE STOCK ON HAND.

The stock of oil in the region upon the first of September was 419,477 bbls, or an excess of sixty-two thousand barrels over the stock on hand August 1st. The total stock in iron tanks was 294,243 bbls, or 50,000 bbls greater than that in iron tankage at the beginning of the month. The stocks at the wells and in the hands of refiners and pipe companies amounted to 125,000 barrels, of which nearly 30,000 barrels belonged to the two last mentioned. At Titusville nearly all of the oil marked as stored in iron tanks belonged to the refiners and pipe companies' stock. Wherever practicable the exact stock of every refiner in the oil region has been obtained, and the greater portion of the extra stocks is of this class. The total capacity of iron tankage in the region is 1,228,939 barrels.

SHIPMENTS.

The total shipments of crude, or its equivalent, for the month of August, amounted to 466,835 barrels, or about 7,000 barrels more than during July. The shipments by river were light, and were principally from points below Franklin. The following table shows the aggregate of shipments:

	Barrels.
To New York	121,799
Cleveland	185,392
Boston	11,079
Philadelphia	44,289
Pittsburgh	81,630
Other points	22,696
Total	466,835

The following table exhibits the shipments of crude equivalent from January 1st to September 1st, 1870:

	Barrels.
To New York	837,936
Cleveland	1,101,577
Boston	109,200
Philadelphia	271,719
Pittsburgh	743,403
Other points	174,308
Total	3,229,143

THE PRICE.

The prices for the month were low and varying, according to the tenor of "war advices," or "bull" movements upon the creek and in outside circles. The price at the beginning of the month was $3 25 upon the Upper creek and $3 40 on the lower. A steady decline marked each day to the ninth of the month, when sales were effected at $2 50 upon the upper and $2 70 on the lower creek. A general increase was apparent from the tenth to the twenty-third inst., when a sudden "jump" of from fifteen to twenty cents a barrel occurred, and the price again increased until the close, when $3 25 was paid upon the upper and $3 50 on the lower creek.

SECOND EDITION.

WASHINGTON.

The Unexpended Balance Question Again.

No Dispatches Sent to Berlin Urging Prussia to Make Peace—Important Papers Stolen—Internal Revenue Receipts Since July 1st, &c., &c.

Special Dispatch to the Commercial.

WASHINGTON, D. C., September 12, 1870.

A Flat Denial.

The various cable dispatches, to the effect that the United States has sent several pointed telegrams to Berlin urging the Prussian authorities to make peace, are entirely sensational. Nothing more definite has been forwarded than the notice sent Mr. Bancroft that our Government would take no part with other powers to negotiate peace, but the good offices would be tendered whenever desired.

Unexpended Balances.

The question of unexpended balances is still exciting the Treasury Department. Several members of Congress from sections where work on public buildings has been suspended, and for others where payment on contracts and for work and material furnished has been stopped, have written, insisting that these matters shall be set in motion again at once. A number of lawyers in the department have been examining the Comptroller's powers, and have concluded that he has also done what he charged upon Acting Attorney General Talbot, namely: overstepping his authority. These gentlemen assert that the Comptroller has final power to decide only where questions settling the claims come up. It is held that if the Secretary orders money put in the hands of disbursing officers for the purpose in dispute, that the Comptroller cannot stop it, but can look to the officer's bondsmen for the amount used contrary to law, and also require the disbursing officer to give additional bonds to secure the money in his hands. The Attorney General's office, that of the Comptroller and several of the Bureaus are investigating all the points involved, and both sides claim to hold impregnable legal positions.

Papers Stolen.

All the papers and vouchers in the cases against Alfred Spates, charging him with forgery and embezzlement while President of the Chesepeake and Ohio Canal Company, were stolen from the office of the States Attorney at Cumberland a few nights since. The papers were kept in the drawer of a desk in the back office, and were obtained by breaking out the bottom of the drawer. Strong circumstantial evidence points to a detective employed in the case, who learned where the papers were kept only the afternoon before, by entering the attorney's office, and pretending that he desired to identify a certain hand writing.

Receipts from Internal Revenue

From the first of July to date have been $45,744,472 58, and the receipts for the corresponding period of 1868, were only $39,424,046 65.

WASHINGTON, D. C., September 12, 1870.

APPOINTMENT.

Hiram E. Kelly has been appointed Collector of the Sixth district of Wisconsin.

CONGRESSMAN SHELDON,

BEEF AND BACON FOR THE INDIANS.

The bids for furnishing seven million one hundred and forty thousand pounds of beef cattle on the hoof, and three hundred and fifty thousand pounds of bacon to the Indian tribes at the agencies in Dakotah, will be opened at the Indian Bureau to-day. There were eighteen bids, including two proposing to deliver the supplies at St. Joseph. The latter were rejected, as not in accordance with the advertisement. The bids for cattle ranged from $3 75 to $7 92 per hundred pounds, and four bids for bacon at 18c to 25½c per pound. Jos. F. Gibbs, of St. Louis, was the lowest bidder for the beef, namely: $3 75 per hundred pounds, and J. W. Bosler, of Carlisle, Pa., was the lowest bidder for the bacon, namely: eighteen cents per pound.

ARRESTED FOR PERJURY.

The United States Marshal of Virginia arrested Joseph Arrundell, Postmaster at Farmville Station, and brought him to Alexandria to answer a charge of perjury, in that he voted for the ordinance of secession and afterwards took the iron-clad oath. The case was continued until October. The proceedings were instigated by a man who wanted his office.

THE CENSUS BUREAU

Has not yet received full returns from any of the larger cities, but expects to received some during the present week. Names are now coming in at the rate of two million and a half a day.

PEACE PROBABLE IN SOUTH AMERICA.

The diplomatic representatives of Spain, Chili, Peru and Ecuador are now here, and an early settlement of formal terms of peace between these countries is expected.

DESTRUCTIVE FIRE.

A fire at Edgewater Staten Island, this morning destroyed thirty buildings and from seventy-five to one hundred thousand dollars worth of property. One hundred families are rendered homeless. Many are now camping in tents. The fire was still burning late this afternoon. No further damage is anticipated.

The corporators of the Southern Trans-Continental Railway Company met this afternoon, General Fremont, President, and adjourned to Thursday, when a permanent organization will be effected.

RIOT IN BROOKLYN.

Superintendent Dutcher, of Brooklyn, in attempting the seizure of an illicit distillery this afternoon, was attacked by a mob and roughly handled, one of his aids losing a fine gold watch. The marines were ordered out and the riot promptly quelled.

GENERAL JUDSON KILPATRICK

Arrived on the Arizona. The steamer also brought $69,605 in specie from California.

THE FAILURE OF SKINNER & CO.

It was reported on the street this afternoon that Francis Skinner & Co. will pay fifty cents on the dollar.

CHAS. R. GORDON,

The whisky operator, who escaped from custody in 1867 by quietly walking out of Court with a book under his arm, has been rearrested and held for trial.

STRAW BAIL.

James O'Neill, having been discovered to have given straw bail in $7,500 for the reappearance of Morris Hill, defaulting cashier of the Westchester Bank, was this morning held in $20,000 bail for examination.

SOUTH AMERICAN NEWS

By to-day's steamer is unimportant. Chili has inaugurated a new Ministry and given up the further prosecution of the Araucanian war, having expended since 1861 two million dollars in the attempt to conquer the Indians. The Argentine Republic has contracted for a sub-marine telegraph to Brazil, to be completed in eighteen months. The Republic of Salvador has just concluded a commercial treaty with Prussia.

ARRIVED.

The City of Brooklyn, from Liverpool.

BRUTAL ASSAULT.

Charles Wilkins, a young man, in First avenue, and David Reischer were to-day, without provocation, assaulted with a spade by a drunken ruffian named John Quinn, and both probably fatally injured. Quinn and two accomplices were arrested.

RAILWAY MATTERS.

Special Dispatch to the Commercial.

FORT WAYNE, IND., September 12, 1870.

To-day the gap necessary for the completion of road on the Grand Rapids and Indiana Railway was completed to-day. The road will be ballasted up and put in order for through business as fast as possible, and by the first of October that amount of the road will be opened for through business. Already a large and remunerative business has sprung up at local stations. The Jackson, Fort Wayne and Saginaw Railroad will be opened for business by the 20th or 25th of this month. The energy shown in the completion of these roads is highly commendable.

THERE will be a meeting of the Republican Reform Executive Committee at the headquarters at two o'clock this afternoon. A full attendance is requested. The prospect for the Reform ticket is growing brighter hourly, and nothing is needed to insure complete success but a vigorous canvass. Such a canvass enters into the objects of the meeting to-day. Let Reform Republicans everywhere understand that their brethren here are awake and "mean business" through to the end.

THE Republican conferees of the Twenty-third District on the one hundred and tenth ballot yesterday nominated Hon. EBENEZER MCJUNKIN, of Butler, for Congress. On that ballot the vote was: MCJUNKIN five, PHELPS four, on the one hundred and second ballot Mr. GRAHAM's name having been withdrawn. The nomination was unanimously concurred in on motion of Mr. GYER. Mr. MCJUNKIN is a native of Butler county, aged about fifty-two, is a lawyer of excellent standing, and a man of commanding ability. His election cannot be doubted.

THE "organ," in its personalities, has ventured on dangerous ground. Though not much to our liking we shall follow at such distance and in such manner as its tactics seem to render advisable. To commence with we will ask one question: What was the consideration whereby the indorsement necessary to procure a certain Federal appointment, and to whom was it paid? This properly cannot be considered personal since it really comes under the head of the examination of the claims of candidates to support. We might, and perhaps may, ask other questions, but one at a time is enough.

WHILE Gen. GRANT is cutting down Government expenses and reducing taxation at the rate of eighty millions a year, the Court House and Office Holders' Rings in Allegheny county are continually increasing the expenses and running up taxation. And yet these Rings have the audacity to claim that they are the peculiar friends of Gen. GRANT, and denounce those who are for cutting down expenses and reducing taxation as his enemies! Were the voters of Allegheny fools, as the Rings seem to suppose, or they would not address such arguments to them, they might perhaps expect to gain something by such a course. But they are intelligent and possess the sagacity to see through the imposition which the Jobbers in spoils and offices are attempting to practice.

ENGLISH NEUTRALITY.

The popular excitement in England indicated by the demonstrations in London, described yesterday in the cable dispatches, however disagreeable or even alarming to the ruling classes, is perhaps less significant than some may assume it to be. Evidently the movement proceeds from the "international union of workmen," an organization of some age, and therefore it may not be viewed as a spontaneous expression of the sentiments of the English populace called forth by events on the continent. It is, however, quite probable that the association referred to, as a nucleus of discontent, may receive large accessions and spread widely in sympathy with the Republican movement in France.

England just now is clearly placed in a rather embarrassing position. Before the Franco-German war broke out, the English upper and middle classes had seen abundant reason to repent bitterly for the foolish indulgence of prejudice and for the equally foolish policy by which they had converted the good will of the best portion of the American people into burning resentment, and placed their Government in a position which imposed the necessity of walking softly and humbly among the nations. The necessity we know is excessively disagreeable to "the lords of human kind," whose pride of port and defiant bearing have been for so long a time a source of comfort to themselves and of disgust to their neighbors. In reference to the present conflict there can, we fancy, be no doubt that the English Government wished to maintain an attitude of strict neutrality. Both the belligerents recognized as cultivated nations, each sanctified by royalty, each blessed with aristocratic institutions and owning the etherial and elevated character imparted to the mere man by descent from a titled ancestry, both commanded the respect of the British nobleman. The peculiar feeling with which the nobility and gentry regarded the North during our civil war was, of course, quite wanting; a state of mind made up of contempt and dread; contempt for the plebeian birth and alleged vulgar manners of the entire rabble, rulers and ruled; dread of the influence of republican example and of the probability that, if secession should not succeed, then, in the not distant future the mighty democratic horde, animated by the vile instincts of their kind, the hatred of the snob for the gentleman, would pour themselves upon and extinguish the refined civilization of the old world. Oh, no! Democracy was believed to be quite extinguished in Germany, while in France whatever existed, existed under the surveillance of the imperial police, and especially under the frown of polite society. Then, with reference to the great English middle class, respectable JOHN BULL, we may pretty confidently believe that he regarded the belligerents with an impartial eye. In the first place, he looked down upon both of them from a height of moral and intellectual superiority. In his estimation, though each endowed with a certain worth, and therefore entitled to a measure of respect, yet neither of them as being a foreigner, was possessed of the manifold excellences of character, natural and acquired, which exalt the British man above all other members of the human race. From his lofty place of observation, neither nationality was clearly to be preferred to the other. While some of the best intellects in each nation had shown their capability of appreciating and admiring English institutions, was it not notorious that such sentiments were comparatively rare and exceptional in both countries? In both countries British notions were laughed at as narrow and insular prejudices. As for religion, the French were known to be either blind papists, or else Voltairians, and the Prussians were probably worse. Their most eminent divines had written contemptuously about the doctrine of the apostolical succession, and were accustomed to allude in a disrespectful manner to the lofty pretensions of the English established church. In Berlin, a city of about seven hundred thousand inhabitants, only about five thousand ever went to church, and the gentleman some time ago sent by the Times newspaper to report on religion in Prussia, represented the highly educated classes as generally atheists. As for notions of liberty, why, thought the Englishman, both nationalities are at present pretty much on a level, far below the position which we English have occupied for centuries. Concerning this point we must, by the way, protest against the Briton's opinion, or at least suggest the necessity of some modification of its statement. No candid observer will deny that, apart from the late French republican movement, the prospects of liberty have for many years been much fairer in Prussia than in France. For many years the leading tendency of intellectual activity in the former country has been in the direction of freedom in all departments. Indeed the progress has been so marked as to promise the noblest results before long. But the average Briton could hardly be expected to recognize the truth. It is, indeed, quite certain that in neither country did he see anything to disturb the mental equilibrium with which he desired to survey the conflict. He was quite satisfied that France should be well thrashed for the sake of old rivalries, but he neither wished nor expected her to be prostrated and disabled. He was quite satisfied that Prussia should be victorious, provided she got some hard blows in the melee, and did not become the preponderant power in Europe. The judicious course for the Briton to pursue during the conflict, as he thought, was to make comfortable gains out of each of the belligerents. This course he has pursued to the deep disgust of both his neighbors. France reviles him for his perfidious contempt of treaty engagements and for exulting in her defeats, while Germany utters more ominous growls over the facts, that an English pilot, without punishment or rebuke, made two thousand pounds sterling by conducting the French fleet into the Baltic, that English traders furnished 40,000 or more chassepots to the French Government, and that countless other Englishmen have grown rich by contraband trade. With the Alabama question still unsettled, and with French indignation buzzing in one ear and German wrath growling in the other, not to mention popular demonstrations in his great towns, JOHN BULL is likely as uncomfortable just now as his enemy could desire him to be.

TAX PAYER, LOOK AT IT!

The tax payers of Allegheny county are just now undergoing a bit of experience, which, if they look at it in the right way, —and we are sure they will—cannot fail of being instructive.

If they will compare the taxes paid this year with last, it will be found that they have without any apparent cause increased. Search as industriously as they will, inquire however earnestly for the reason for this increase, it will be found to be nowhere excepting in the extravagance and corruption in which our affairs are managed.

A decided percentage of the taxes which the people pay is TRIBUTE TO THE OFFICE HOLDERS' RING.

Year after year taxation has been growing greater and greater and harder and harder to bear, simply because the Ring have been growing bolder and bolder in their extravagance and corruption.

The Judiciary Job is a fair sample. THIRTY THOUSAND DOLLARS will be deliberately transferred by it from the pockets of the people to the pockets of the Court House Ring.

The Court House enlargement is another monstrous Job, amounting to not less than TWO HUNDRED THOUSAND DOLLARS. Who that looks at the work is not convinced that it is an extraordinary expense—far greater than it should have been?

The money that has been spent in the enlargement of the Court House, economically expended, would have gone far to build a new one. The Job is an outrage on the Tax Payers. Where the money has gone—who can tell? Where it comes from, the Tax Payers know to their sorrow.

Now these Rings—this combination of Jobbers—have held a Convention and put a ticket up before the people. Who will support it? The Tax Payers? We do not believe it. The Rings, it is true, make fair professions of Reform. But who will believe them? Standing waist deep in spoils and plunder, who will credit their professions? They divide among themselves not less than ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND DOLLARS A YEAR. They can afford to make any amount of promises to retain their fat pickings. Who believes they are going to keep one of their promises and give up their plunder?

Some of the offices the Ring hold net as high as FIFTEEN THOUSAND DOLLARS A YEAR. Others FIFTEEN AND TEN THOUSAND DOLLARS, and so on down to three and four.

The income of almost any one would buy a farm; while the income of others every year is equal to the gains of a life time of most of farmers.

Now, we ask the people, are these things to be longer borne? Is it not time to commence the work of Reform? When a Reform is proposed, what do the Ring say? "Stand by the Party!" is their sole cry—as if extravagance, corruption and the party could be made one and the same thing. It is in this way that the Jobbing Ring have been for years using the party until it has been prostituted beyond endurance.

How can Republicans "stand by the party?" Can they by sustaining the ring in their extravagance and corruption? Standing by the party as they raise the cry means standing by them and their jobs—standing by special legislation, fat offices, and exorbitant taxes.

Are the Tax Payers going to do it? Republicans will "stand by the Party" by putting down the Rings. The Reform Ticket is composed of Republicans from top to bottom. They are men of capacity and tried integrity. Not one Office Seeker, Jobber or old hack can be found among them. They are men who deal uprightly and economically in their business, and will carry the principle into public affairs.

We have but one question to put! Is not Reform right; and should it be postponed another hour? Republicans, tax payers, voters of Allegheny! What is your answer?

WHEN five years in a single office enables the incumbent, who when he entered was not worth a hundred dollars, to show a hundred thousand as the fruit of his toil, is it not time to place said office under the Reformer's hands? This is not an imaginary but a real case. The fault is in the system; and the system is the contrivance wherewith the office holders have for a long period been able to make a machine of the Republican party and live off the tax payers. We are within bounds when we say, that within the last five years the Office Holding Clique have cost the tax payers of Allegheny A QUARTER OF A MILLION DOLLARS over and above what would have been fair pay for the services performed. While indemnity for the past is impossible, security for the future is possible; and it is this indemnity that the Reform Movement proposes. The question before the public is: Will they permit themselves to be robbed of another quarter of a million, or will they, by taking their affairs into their own hands, save that amount and probably more to their own pockets?

STAND by Protection, is now the cry of the "organ." This comes with bad grace from those who declared that if the Manufacturers supported the Reform Movement they would join the Free Traders. Consistent Protectionists these! Sincere must be their alarm lest a Free Trader be chosen to Congress. A month ago they were ready to go over to Free Trade, and threatened to join the Democrats to punish Manufacturers for favoring the Reform Movement. Now they appeal to them to support their ticket. There is no occasion for being alarmed for Protection. Major FREW is as good a protectionist as Gen. NEGLEY ever was, and will prove a far more capable advocate and serviceable Representative. He is in sympathy with and forms a part of the great interests that will be effected by legislation, and can act intelligently and influentially, taking rank at once with the political men in Congress on this and every other subject. How can we stand by Protection better than by electing Major FREW? His friends never proposed to go over to Free Trade if they were not sustained. They never threatened to punish Manufacturers for not siding with them. They never thought of betraying the interests of the country if they were not supported. Will the people sustain those who did?

AN orthodox Democratic journal, the Augusta (Ga.) Chronicle, thus explains the course to be pursued in regard to the Fifteenth Amendment:

> "We should avoid the appearance of hostility to this infamous amendment, at least until we are in a better position to secure its abolishment, or have it declared inoperative by competent authority. This course is earnestly recommended on the score of future party success."

There may be honor in asking negro votes to get Democrats into power in the South, so that when in power they may disfranchise the blacks who help them to office, but certainly there is no policy in avowing such intentions. No party can permanently succeed on such a false basis, and to talk now of repealing the Fifteenth Amendment is only to revive unnecessary wranglings over a question which is finally settled and which cannot have its answer changed except at the cost of making rebels of the race whom the Chronicle would disfranchise.

GENERAL AND PARTICULAR.

The Australian Government has refused to subsidize Webb's American steamship line.

In Morgan, Macoupin and Sangamon counties, Illinois, are 300,000 acres of corn standing.

A Paris letter says that the manufacture of American flags has now become quite a specialty there. One large firm is almost exclusively devoted to the business. Apropos, a new ornament has grown out of this war excitement—miniature American flags, painted on silk and mounted as shawl pins, are worn here by American ladies to secure them from the suspicion of being Prussians, for ladies as well as gentlemen are severely questioned as to their nationality, if they happen to be graced with blonde hair.

Mr. Paran Stevens is to build in New York a splendid apartment hotel. Excavations are now making for the foundations. The cost will probably exceed $700,000. The main front will be on Twenty-seventh street, and will stretch 254 feet from Fifth avenue to Broadway. It will be ready for use next summer, and will exceed in size and elegance anything of the kind yet built in this country, and will be occupied only by those whose means will enable them to pay for the various suites of rooms, from $1,500 to $2,500 a year.

A vein of block coal forty-seven (?) feet thick has been found near Alamo, Indiana, and the offer for it of $1,000,000 by a Pennsylvania company is refused.

Suit is likely to be brought against the proprietor of the Fifth Avenue House, New York, to recover about $50,000 alleged to have been deposited with them from Trevor & Colgate, by the sale on June 19th of 9,000 sovereigns belonging to Bomangee Byramjee Colah, the East Indian Parsee, who went crazy in New York some time ago.

The Captain, which has sunk with five hundred men, was one of the finest vessels in the British navy. She was constructed in 1868 by the Lairds for the government, and was considered a very fine specimen of the turret style of monitor. Captain Cowper Coles, (inventor of the English turret iron-clads,) Lord Northbrook and a son of Mr. Childers, First Lord of the Admiralty, went down with her, it is thought.

A number of New York capitalists propose to organize a company to protect the city from fire by supplying carbonic acid gas everywhere through street pipes.

A letter from West Creek, Republic county, Kansas, gives a highly satisfactory account of the state of the new colonies there. Towns are rising up in every direction, land is rapidly increasing in value, and the settlements have been thus far free from Indian outrages. Belleville and Excelsior, both settled chiefly from New York city, are thriving, and although the present crops are not such as were expected, yet the colonists are hopeful, and things are otherwise in a satisfactory condition.

Columbia, South Carolina, has an ice factory where, at an expense of $11,000, from 40,000 to 50,000 pounds of ice can be turned out per week. The process of manufacture is simple: The ammonia is heated in a boiler, and conveyed through a pipe to a cooling box, and thence to a tank, where the water intended to be frozen is kept in several tin boxes. The boxes are three feet long, seven inches wide and three inches deep.

An English writer says that "the armies of the Northern States, directly they found accomplished Captains like Grant and Sherman, solved successfully greater, more novel and more difficult military problems than military science had ever till the commencement of the great civil war even achieved."

Mr. Julius A. Palmer, since opening his Chinese immigration in Boston, has been so beset with applications for Chinese servants for families that he has been obliged to withdraw his advertising card until he can ascertain whether he can make arrangements for the Chinese to come here singly. His purpose had been to import workmen in colonies; but he hopes speedily to be able to announce an agency for those desiring to be put in communication with one Chinaman or many.

Pease pudding is one of the new articles of food adopted for rations for the Prussian soldiers. It has the advantage of being cheap; it will keep for a long time, and it contains a large amount of nutritious matter. The idea of using it was borrowed, it is said, from the Chinese, but the Germans have improved upon the Chinese pattern by mixing smoked meat, chopped up small, with the pease. If boiled, it forms a complete meal of joint and vegetable; if eaten cold, it is equally good, and a small quantity will last a man for a day.

It is related of Von Moltke that during Sadowa, while the fighting was going on, his aids and orderlies brought him reports and messages from time to time, on which, seated in his tent with his plan before him, he gave his orders. At length something was said not readily intelligible, he rose, mounted his horse, galloped across the country and straight through the line of fire, needless of ball or bullet, and having seen what he wanted to see galloped back the same way and quietly completed his orders.

Reams, of Orange county, Florida, set out nine banana plants, the increase of which now covers three acres of ordinary pine land, and brings him the handsome sum of one hundred and twenty-five dollars a month. The average age of the thirteen men constituting the present Government of France, is 58. The oldest of them is Cremieux, a Jew in religion, and a moderate republican. He is 74. The youngest is Gambetta, Minister of the Interior. He is thirty-two, and liberal in politics, with as much audacity as Danton. He is the most influential with the people of them all.

Napoleon III. has an extraordinary memory for names, figures, faces and miscellaneous facts. A German professor, who was called to Paris in connection with the publication of the "Vie de Cesar," relates that it was Napoleon's invariable habit, on having communicated to him a name or a number, or any brief fact which he wished to remember, to write it down in a note-book kept exclusively for that purpose, and which always lay upon his desk. After writing down the memorandum he would tear the leaf out of the book, and read it over once attentively, and then tear the leaf up. And he told the professor that after impressing a fact on his mind by this process, he never forgot it. The key to this extraordinary facility of memory doubtless lies in the fact that, during his long years of imprisonment, in early life, he did not care to carry important memoranda about him. He was obliged to rely on his memory; but that he did not at first trust it altogether is seen by the fact that, through the force of a habit, he is still obliged to make sure of a fact by writing it down, and so fixing it in his mind, instead of trusting entirely to the sense of hearing to act upon his memory.

A STEAMSHIP SUBSIDY SCHEME,

Whereof Gen. Negley is Father.

[From the N. Y. Commercial Bulletin.]

We observe that several political conventions have placed a resolution in their platforms declaring opposition to grants of public land to corporations. The Republicans of Michigan and other States, one or two Democratic conventions by indirection, and several conventions for the nomination of candidates for Congress. Hon. John Hill, of New Jersey, has been renominated with such a resolution of instruction—which is somewhat significant from the fact that he carried through the House of Representatives in 1868, a bill for subsidizing the Commercial Navigation Company of New York. The bill was signed, but neither Postmaster General Randall ever found character enough in its inception and constituent elements, to warrant the granting of any mail contract under the provisions. A closer investigation would probably render this fact potent to the entire American public.

The endeavor to revive American commerce by encouraging the establishment of a steam marine, has been greatly desired by our leading public men. Congress was employed last winter in considering the various projects which were brought before it. There were about thirty of these, embracing all sorts of ideas crude and otherwise; some asking money, some mail contracts, and others public lands. The most imposing of these was the Mediterranean and Oriental Steam Navigation Company of New York. It was introduced in each House in a multiplicity of forms, taking the preference over others as it went along, till the fact came out that there was bad faith in every part, between the men pressing the claims of the Company, and the members of the Company, if not with the Government. In one bill George B. Loring, Horace Greeley, Erastus Brooks and Jacob Tome were named as Commissioners at large; in two bills, Joseph Medill, Horace Greeley, Erastus Brooks and Jacob Tome were so named; in another, where Joseph R. Hawley, Walter Harriman, William Denison, George B. Loring, Erastus Brooks, Horace Greeley and A. P. Jones. In each of the bills there were also a commissioner named from each of the Southern States. It is due to these gentlemen to declare that they gave their names and influence from the most laudable of motives; and that they and the majority of the members of the Company throughout, have contemplated the establishment of a national steam line under auspices which would guarantee its success as an enterprise and confer a lasting benefit on the public. With much of the detail they were imperfectly acquainted; and from the last scene in the drama, it can easily be surmised that they were purposely kept in the dark.

The several bills accordingly provided that the vessels of this company should run to certain ports of Europe, to ports of the Mediterranean, through the Suez Canal, and have an ultimate communication with China. Departures should be made every third week from Norfolk, and weekly from Port Royal or Brunswick, and tri-weekly from New York, in whole or in part from one or all of those ports.

So far the purposes of the measure appear to have "fair sailing." They are noble, worthy of any man's ambition, and in the highest degree creditable to the men entertaining them. To be sure, there is an unsubstantiality about the sound which to men of experience indicates a want of "true metal," but there was enough to evoke the most cordial sympathy and co-operation. A navy of three thousand ton steamers sailing weekly, semi-weekly or tri-weekly to Europe, Egypt and China, and laden with freight, passengers and mails, going and returning, is certainly a pleasing picture. Of course, to realize this vast undertaking, subsidizing would be necessary. The bill of the Senate made abundant provision for this, in four distinct propositions.

1. It gave mail contracts for twenty years. The vessels were required to be of not less than three thousand tons burthen each; and the United States were to give the company the postal money on all mail matter conveyed by its steamships—the vessels during the continuance of the contracts to be exempt from all dues and port charges.

2. The fourth section of the bill contained a scheme of emigration and subsidy, of enormous proportions. It applied to the States of Virginia, North and South Carolina, Florida, Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, Texas, Arkansas, Missouri, Kentucky, Tennessee and West Virginia; each of which States were empowered to subsidize the company, by legislative or individual or corporate action, through deposit of State bonds with the Postmaster General—the interest to be paid semi-annually and the principal to be handed over by him after the expiration of the year. For every hundred thousand dollars of this subsidy the General Government was required to give the respective States appropriating the money one hundred thousand acres of public lands.

3. The bill further provided that "as consideration for the construction of said steamships, upon plans approved by the Navy Department from materials exclusively the production of our own country, there shall be granted and allowed to said Company for each and every ton, eighty acres of land from the public domain of the United States."

This would require 240,000 acres for every vessel, or 3,750 square miles for ten steamships, which such a company would require for operations.

4. The Company is required to place on each of its ships one apprentice for every two hundred tons, about fifteen to each steamship; and for every apprentice, maintained four years, a square mile of land should be given. This would be 48,000 acres in the twenty years.

Senator Macdonald, of Arkansas, and General Negley, of Pennsylvania, consented to father and take charge of these measures. The committees incubated the bills, scrutinized them somewhat, and finally one was reported in the Senate. Whether there was a purpose to dispose of the franchises and powers so obtained, it is not for us to surmise. There were rumors, as there always are on such occasions.

The fate of the measure will be found in the Washington Daily Globe of July 8th. The bill had been made a special order two days previous, and in its time was announced by the Vice President. The Chief Clerk proceeded to read an amendment which had been reported on the 7th of February. Mr. Casserly, of California, called attention to the fact that the bill as read was not identical with the bill as printed. The names of Joseph Medill and Horace Greeley as Commissioners were struck out and other names inserted, so as to create the following gentlemen commissioners at large: Jacob Thorn, Samuel D. Jones, Dwight Webb, Willard B. Farwell, James C. Jewett, E. M. Barnum. All contracts, instead of being made with these commissioners, thus virtually annihilated the original corporation. This had been half threatened several weeks previous by one of the proposed new commissioners. The reading of the bill created a great sensation. Mr. Sherman spoke in decided terms against the extraordinary provisions, and Garret Davis proposed to lay it on the table if the table was large enough to hold it. It, however, was recommitted, and kept asleep till the adjournment.

The extravagant land grants already made to railroad corporations are so many impediments to land subsidies for steamship lines, and the action of political conventions indicate that the people have determined to take the matter in hand. Yet the homestead laws may be so modified as to be applied for the encouragement of emigration; and we have no doubt that Congress will yet pass a good bill, when assured of the good faith of its supporters. But the follies of the past must not be repeated.

A. G. BLESSING, of Washington, D. C., would have every candidate for Congress or a Legislature at the coming elections voluntarily pledge himself over his own signature to vote for a law similar to the following, or forfeit his nomination for a man who will pledge himself: "That no two or more relatives by blood or marriage shall hold office by appointment in the civil or military service of this Government; neither shall the relative of any one elected to office hold office by appointment, nor shall two or more relatives hold office in any bank, or in the financial department of any company chartered by this Government." Now, to carry this scheme out logically. To begin with Gen. W. T. Sherman, holding his office by appointment, must be dismissed because Senator John Sherman holds his office by election. Then every branch of public service must be rid of competent officers, skilled by experience and special training, because they have or may have had some relative somewhere else in the Government employ. Then merchants and business men should be interdicted by law from employing their relatives in their establishments, so that the Harper Brothers should replace all the young Harpers with outsiders, and everywhere else places shall be made for disinterested applicants who are not connected by blood or marriage with their employers. In making appointments the first question shall not be "Do experience and aptness fit him for the position?" but "What relation is he?"

THE Spanish Government promised the United States to provide for emancipation in Cuba, but has abandoned fulfilling the promise. The same neglect of United States interests appears in commercial matters. With this country as her nearest neighbor, Cuba should have the largest trade and encourage it by most liberal legislation. Instead, Spain's colonial policy has shut up Cuba against our commerce. This question will come up before the approaching Commercial Convention at Cincinnati, and the western grain interests at least will have a fresh instance of Spanish discrimination against us, to nerve them to action, in the fact that on and after October 1, the duty on flour imported into Cuba (unless from Spain) will be raised $2 50 per barrel in gold, making the duty altogether, we believe, $6 50 per barrel in specie. This enormous duty of one hundred per cent. ad valorem, or more on the lower grades of flour, must still farther diminish our trade with that island.

The drought throughout England and France during the past season has been very disastrous. The loss in hay and butter to England is estimated at about $1,000,000, and France, in her pressing needs, arising from the war, is much straightened by the scant hay crop. Indeed, the problem of securing sufficient hay for the necessities of the French army is one of increasing importance and very difficult of solution.

BRISK business, quick sales and small profits is the order of the day in Wall street. So uncertain are events that operators hasten to realize at the first advance, and to clear themselves on the earliest decline. If there must be stock and gold gambling, this is a healthy way to conduct it, for New York experience is that ninety-nine one hundredths of the operators fall dead broke, and most of them because they hold on too long for too high profits. The trouble is that other men neither profit by these failures to avoid gambling; nor, if they will engage in it, even to avoid the mistakes which make the bankrupts.

STATE POLITICS.

Senator Wilson, of Massachusetts, will address the Republicans of Philadelphia at the Academy of Music, on Friday evening next.

Mr. Theodore Cuyler positively declines to be the Democratic Congressional candidate in the Second district.

Colonel Christopher Kleinz, formerly Lieutenant Colonel of the Fifth cavalry, will run against Sam. Josephs for the Legislature. He was a good soldier, and if he succeeds in carrying that formidable stronghold, will make an excellent legislator.

The Philadelphia Sunday Republic says: The prominent Republicans so far named for the position of Auditor General to be voted for in October, 1871, are Messrs. Henry C. Johnson, of Crawford; General D. B. McCreary, of Erie; and General James A. Beaver, of Center. Mr. Johnson was at one time Speaker of the House of Representatives at Harrisburg, and was last winter a member of the same branch. General McCreary has also been a member of the House two or three sessions, and for some time held the post of Adjutant General under Governor Geary. Both of the gentlemen are lawyers. General Beaver is also an attorney, and stands at the head of the bar of his county. He entered the service of his country under the first call for troops as first lieutenant of Company H, Second Regiment of Pennsylvania Volunteers, three months' service, leaving a large and lucrative practice. He served until the expiration of his term, July, 1861, when he was immediately chosen lieutenant colonel of the Forty-fifth Regiment, P. V., and taking the field served with that command with distinction until September 8, 1862, when he was chosen colonel of the 148th Regiment, and served with Hancock's celebrated Second Corps. He was severely wounded at Chancellorsville, May 3, 1863, but after a brief absence returned to his regiment, and was again wounded at Cold Harbor, June 3, 1864, but refused to leave his command, and was again wounded at Petersburg on the 16th of the same month. In the latter part of August he had sufficiently recovered from his wounds to take command again, and while leading his men bravely into action at Reams's Station, on the day of his return, received a wound by which he lost his leg, and was conveyed from the field in the same ambulance that took him there. He was brevetted brigadier general August 1, 1864, and honorably discharged from service December 22, 1864, on account of disability. General Beaver is in the prime of life, full of vigor and energy, and as an executive officer has few superiors in the commonwealth. He is a man of highest moral character, being a steadfast member of the Presbyterian Church, is a speaker of considerable ability, and one of the finest scholars Princeton College has produced.

MOST REMARKABLE VOYAGE ON RECORD.

Crossing the Ocean in a Cockleshell of Less Than Two Tons Burthen.

Probably the most remarkable ocean voyage on record has just been performed. Two persons, an Irishman and an Austrian reached Boston last week, ninety-seven days from Liverpool, in a vessel, the smallest that has ever crossed the Atlantic. Her length over all is only twenty feet, her breadth less than six, she draws only about two feet of water, she is a fraction less than two tons burthen, and spreads between seventy and eighty yards of canvas. Everything about her is of similar lilliputian dimensions. The cabin is almost a farce, as everything else is in point of size, but with a wise economizing of every inch of space the two plucky mariners managed to get along, although such a thing as rendering themselves comfortable was entirely out of the question. The two men had a "dirty and ugly voyage." There were strong westerly winds almost from the beginning of the journey to the end, and two or three heavy gales. The most severe of these, however, was on Saturday night week, when the Ragusa was off George's Banks. Numerous vessels in that vicinity were wrecked at the time, but this little fragile craft, not a plank in her over half an inch in thickness, danced around on the mad waves the whole night long, coming out all right in the morning with only the loss of the jib. The first thirty-five days of the voyage the weather was uniformly rough, and not for a moment during this whole time did either Captain Buckley or his fellow tars enjoy the luxury of a stitch of dry clothing. The water not only poured in upon them unmercifully over the deck, but the bark commenced leaking badly and one man had to be constantly working the little hand pumps, which they were fortunately provided with. With little or no sleep for days and nights in succession the adventurers became exhausted and weary, and with visions of a watery grave before them, they now began to repent of their singular undertaking. A fire kindled in the stove was speedily quenched by the dashing sea, and for three weeks or more they had to subsist on raw meat and hard bread. Their best day's run, however, was under these trying circumstances, when they made 153 miles. Their slowest day's run eleven miles; but the average speed of the entire run was about four knots per hour.

FINANCE AND TRADE.

MONDAY EVENING, September 12, 1870.

The week opens on an active demand for money, and banks and bankers have no trouble in keeping their means well employed. The outside market is also active, and large amounts in paper are offered through the brokers, which is negotiated at rates according to the standing of the borrowers. Some good names are placed as low as 9 per cent, and commission, but the more general rates are 10 and 12, and occasionally as high as 1½@1¾ per cent. a month is paid, where the risk seems great.

—Local stocks are more active, although the market is but lightly supplied with the good dividend class. Bank stocks especially are in demand and at high prices. Very little is doing in insurance stocks, but many of them bring good round prices, whenever offered. Petroleum stocks are dull, and sales are so rare that it is difficult to give true quotations.

—There was some improvement to-day in government bonds, but the market is reported dull. Although the weekly statement of the associated banks is without crease in the surplus reserve of some $200,000, important features, there being only a de- and the banks report little or no movement of currency to the interior, the legal tenders have fallen off over a million and a half of dollars, which fact gave rise to a rumor of an artificial movement to make money stringent for effect upon the stock market. On the other hand, despite the specie shipment of the week and the fact that the Treasury received over four millions for customs during the week and disbursed only half a million in payment of the September interest on the ten-forties, the banks have gained nearly half a million specie.

Messrs. Ira B. McVay & Co. report the following quotations of Government bonds in New York to-day, as furnished them by Jay Cooke & Co., their correspondents:

PRODUCE AND GENERAL MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH COMMERCIAL, MONDAY EVENING, September 12, 1870.

REMARKS—This is fair week, and as the weather bids fair to be propitious a good time generally is anticipated. The tens of thousands who will visit the city during the week will drop their greenbacks among our merchants and business men, and everybody will be benefited. The war news is about "played out," and ceases to be the all absorbing topic. The weather is all that could be wished. The rivers are getting lower and lower and will soon "touch bottom" unless we have rain. The idea still gains ground that an immense trade will be done this fall, and those who would reap its benefits should bear in mind what we said yesterday: "All that is required to insure a brisk trade is to use the columns of the COMMERCIAL in the way of advertising, and you are bound to succeed. Those who have given it a fair trial could not be induced to go back to the old system; now is the time to commence; delays are dangerous. In flour we have no changes to note. Receipts since our last 145 bbls. Dealers still continue apart in their views, buyers generally asking larger concessions than holders are disposed to make, hence, the sales were confined principally to the wants of the local trade. The leading houses are well supplied with choice standard brands of flour made from Southern and Western wheats. The mills are equally well provided with wheat selected expressly for this market. Bacon, provisions and groceries are firm and unchanged, and dealers report a brisk business. The stocks are heavy and have been selected with a view to the incoming fall trade. The following are the wholesale prices, unless otherwise noted:

APPLES—The market contains an abundant supply of the various qualities. Since our last 541 barrels were among the receipts. We can report sales of mixed lots at $1 50@2 50 ⅌ barrel; choice ones $2 75@4 00 as to quality and condition.

ASHES—The season for activity is drawing near, the principle houses having laid in a good stock to meet the expected demand. The current rates were: Soda Ash, common, 3¼ ⅌ cent; refined 3½ ⅌ cent; Super Carb. 7c; Potash 7@7½c; Pearlash 9@9½c ⅌ lb.

CONCENTRATED LYE—Sales Pennsylvania $6 ⅌ case, other brands sold at $6 00@7 00 ⅌ case.

COOPERAGE—The market was steady with a good demand; sales city barrels $2 25@2 30; country $2 25.

GRAIN—Receipts: Oats, 780 sacks; rye, 200 sacks; barley, 310 sacks; wheat, 251 sacks; corn, 121 sacks. Prices are unchanged, and we continue to quote: Red western, $1 15@1 20; white, $1 25@1 30; amber Southern, $1 30@1 35. The mills are never particular for a few cents per bushel, provided the article comes up to their standard. Oats are in good demand and holders firm. Sales prime white, from elevator, at 50c; store rates at 50@52c. Corn—sales of ear at 90@95c. The feeling was strong; shelled was in limited demand. It could be obtained at 90c. Rye—market quiet. Prices nominal. We can report sales at 85@88c. Barley is attracting a good share of attention, with liberal sales of spring at $1 10@1 15; fall, $1 20@1 25c per bushel.

BROOMS—We have no change to note in the price of brooms, and continue to quote as follows: Shaker No 1 ⅌ doz $5 00; Shaker No 2 ⅌ doz $4 50; Hurl A No 1 ⅌ doz $4 75; Hurl No 1 ⅌ doz $4 25; Hurl No 2 ⅌ doz $4 00; Braid No 1 ⅌ doz $4 50; Braid No 2 ⅌ doz $4 00; Round Hurl ⅌ doz $4 50; Plain Hurl ⅌ doz $3 00.

POTATOES—Regular sales at 85@90c ⅌ bushel; Jersey Sweets at $4@4 50, and Baltimore $3 50@4 00 ⅌ bbl.

HUSKS—Are sold in a regular way at 3@3½c ⅌ lb.

WHISKY—Is dull and has a declining tendency. We quote highwines at 93; rectified, common, 95; proof $1 05.

FRUITS—In moderate demand; sales Prunes at 12½c; currants 13½c; layer raisins $4 50 ⅌ box; Valencia raisins 15@16c ⅌ pound.

BAKING POWDER—Sales Banner, ¼ lb cans, $2 75 ⅌ dozen; ½ lb cans $3 25; 1 lb cans, $6 00 per dozen.

SEEDS—The market was inactive; nothing doing in timothy or clover. Flaxseed is also dull notwithstanding the receipts were light. We quote nominally at $2 15@2 20 per bush.

DRIED FRUIT—The market was a dull one, prices being very uncertain; we omit figures.

HONEY—The receipts are increasing; we can report sales at 20@25c ⅌ lb, as to quality.

FEATHERS—Are in better demand; we can report sales from first hands at 85@90c; sales were made from store at the usual advance.

CHICKENS—Market uncertain; sales made at from 50@60c ⅌ pair for young—old at prices agreed on.

BUTTER—Good fresh roll brings 28, 30@32c ⅌ lb; inferior goes off slowly. Supply fair.

CEMENT—Market well supplied; sales of Phoenix Hydraulic at $2 [illegible] ⅌ bbl; Louisville $2 [illegible] ⅌ bbl.

FEED—The market is steady and unchanged at the following rates: shorts, $1 00 ⅌ cwt; chopped corn and oats $1 60 ⅌ cwt; chopped corn $2 00 ⅌ cwt; boiled corn meal $1 ⅌ bushel; bran, $1 00 ⅌ cwt; shipstuffs, $1 20 ⅌ cwt; middlings $1 30 ⅌ cwt.

PEACHES—The supply is abundant, still prices rule high. A good article commands readily $2 50@3 50 ⅌ box; inferior lower.

BACON AND PROVISIONS—We do not alter our quotations. A good trade is reported. The following are the ruling rates: Shoulders 14½c; ribbed sides, 17c; clear sides 18c; breakfast bacon 20c. Sugar cured Hams, 24@25c; Dried Beef, S. C. and canvassed 24@24½c; leaf lard 18c; do bucket 18c. Mess Pork, $29 50.

The market may be stated thus: Extra Philadelphia, $10 25@10 50; good to prime Philadelphia, 225 to 250 lbs, $10 00@10 25; good to prime New York, 180 to 220 lbs, $9 50@9 75; light stock hogs, 80 to 100, lbs, $8 00@9 50.

Milch Cows

A few milch cows were offered. The prices asked were from $40@70, as to milking qualities, size, age and condition.

Horses and Mules.

Offerings light, and no sales reported.

MISTAKE.—In our notice of the heavy sale made by Mr. Jacob Berry, the veteran stock dealer in the employ of Holmes, Lafferty & Glass, for the week ending September 10, the types made us say "sheep" instead of "cattle." That gentleman sold, in one week, 1,882 head of cattle, and it was Martin S. Lafferty who disposed of 9,800 head of sheep in the same week. Who can beat either?

PITTSBURGH OIL TRADE.

OFFICE OF PITTSBURGH COMMERCIAL, TUESDAY, September 13, 1870.

REMARKS—The market was not an active one; buyers and sellers were apart in their views, with very little possibility of coming to terms. The heavy increase in production has caused buyers to hold off, being disposed to wait for lower figures; how long they will have to wait is altogether another question. Later in the day prices were lower.

TITUSVILLE, September 12.—The Herald says: There was a moderate inquiry upon both sections of the road to-day, but sellers were generally holding at prices from 5@10c above the views of buyers, who were not generally inclined to make concessions. MONONGAHELA—Two feet and falling.

THE marks last evening indicated two feet and falling slowly. Trade on the landing was very dull.

Iron Propeller.

We have the pleasure of announcing that Capt. W. S. Packer, a far-seeing and intelligent coal man, has contracted for an iron propeller, to be built entirely of iron, at this port. The hull will be built in front of the Monongahela House, on the south side of the river, by Mr. W. Douglass, an ironworker who knows all about getting up a job of that kind. Length, 65 feet; beam, 14 feet; hold, 7½ feet. The hull and decks will be entirely of iron.

The engines will be 18 by 18; that is 18 inches in length and 18 inches stroke, built by Messrs. Robinson, Rea & Co. The senior partner of this firm, Mr. W. Robinson, was the builder of the iron steamer Valley Forge, the first iron steamer ever built in the West. This tug is owned by Messrs J. M. and W. D. Peterson, of New Orleans, and will be used for towing barges of coal at Baton Rouge.

The above is a small affair, but like everything else, there must be a beginning. The first ocean steamer that made regular and successful trips from Liverpool to New York was but 800 tons; now we have ocean steamers that range from 4,000 to 5,000 tons. The Scotia during the present month made the trip from New York to Queenstown in seven days and fifteen hours. Before long we hope to be able to announce the building of iron steamers at this point, that will range from 250 to 500 feet, with a beam and hold corresponding. The good time is not far off. The handwriting is on the wall; it can be plainly seen by all who have anything like good eyesight.

THE Missouri continues to be a source of misery to steamboatmen on that stream.

THE fine packet Belle, Captain Smith, has changed her hour of departure. She will hereafter leave the landing at 4 P. M. for Brownsville and Geneva. Passengers and shippers will bear this in mind.

THE NORTHERN LINE ABOVE ST. LOUIS.—The packets of the Northern Line are doing well. Plenty of water, fair amount of freight and scores of passengers. The Keokuk Packet Company have all their boats in good trim and are doing a good freight and passenger business.

THE United States Mail Line boats on the slackwater leave daily at 8 A. M. and 5 P. M. These boats are sidewheelers, were built especially for the trade and are in charge of careful and attentive officers. For further information call on Capt. A. S. Carlile, one of the most attentive and gentlemanly officers to be found.

HO FOR THE MUSKINGUM RIVER!—The fine passenger steamer Julia No. 2, Captain Stull, takes her departure this day at 12 M., for Wheeling, Marietta and Zanesville. For speed, accommodation, and attentive officers this boat stands A No. 1. The first clerk is our old friend Theo. McCaddar, a clever and gentlemanly officer.

A ST. LOUIS paper says: The river interests have not suffered more this year than usual on account of low water. We are informed by General Nathan Ranney that during the entire season the Memphis and St. Louis Packet Company's boats have had as much freight offered as they could carry. Freights are abundant on the Missouri; but navigation very bad. River in good condition above.

ONE of the St. Louis river reporters yacht struck Listen. Jennie Boone, excursions or evening sails beneath the moonlight are very enjoyable. Capt. Carpenter of that beautiful yacht is giving a few of the favored class evening sails. Very delightful. Our river-loving citizens ought by all means to purchase and keep this fine little craft at our port. Capt. Alfred T. Lacy of Memphis was on 'Change yesterday.

LITTLE ROCK.—The Gazette says: The first bale of new cotton was purchased in this city Saturday by Fletcher & Hotze. The cotton was raised on the Irwin place, twenty miles below the city, by Pennington & Waters. The bale weighed 462 pounds. It was classed good middling, and brought fifteen cents per pound. Another bale, raised on the Jones place, by Miles Arbuckle, was purchased by Jones, McDowell & Co., at the same price per pound.

A STEAMBOAT genius has developed a plan for assisting boats over bad bars. The plan of this genius consists in utilizing the balloon. A large number of these are to be carried on all boats with necessary conveniences for inflating them. When a boat approaches shallow water she is to be hoisted by the balloons sufficiently to pass over. Rumors that the "water man" of a twilight journal of Louisville is one of the chief movers in this gassy project, is doubtless without foundation in fact.

CINCINNATI.—The Commercial says: Captain Hall, of the Fleetwood, assures us that no one was shot or lost overboard from his packet above New Richmond, Ohio, a few nights since, as reported. He further states that no cabin passage tickets have been issued for some time, and if there was a murder committed on the Fleetwood, the crew are all ignorant of the fact. The information was derived from the Coroner at New Richmond, who held an inquest and interred a body found in the river opposite that place, with a Fleetwood ticket in the pantaloons pocket of the corpse.

THE Bureau of Construction and Repair at the Navy Department has for sale thirty-two monitors, the disposal of which was authorized several years ago by Congress, after they should be appraised by a board of naval officers. Secretary Welles appointed a board which fixed a value for each one, and the department cannot take a less sum than that fixed by the Board. As the monitors are of no service except to break up for old iron, no bids of any consequence have been received for them. The machinery in all of them is worth more than the hull, but that can not be sold without the vessel. These monitors are now laid up at League Island, Pennsylvania, Mound City, Illinois, Washington, D. C., and New Orleans, Louisiana.

COLUMBUS, GA.—The Sun, of Sunday, thus announces the sinking of the Randy Moore, in the Alabama river: Randy Moore, from Apalachicola to Columbus, on Wednesday night, at eight o'clock, struck her bow with a snag, in Muscle Shoals, and sunk immediately to near the lower deck. Cargo, except one barrel, was saved. She had on board 800 barrels of freight. One gentleman, passenger, lost a leg, and was left at Eufaula for medical attendance. The freight was saved in good condition, and delivered and paid for at Eufaula. Accident occurred a few miles below Old Columbia. When the clerk left the water was knee deep on the lower deck, and the river rising slowly. The boat can be easily raised when the river falls sufficiently for work. Insurance will probably cover all damages incurred. The clerk arrived Saturday morning on the Julia St. Clair, from below.

MARIETTA.—The Register says: It is well known that a bar forms at the mouth of the Muskingum, sometimes making it very difficult for a boat to go in or out of that river. Also, the same cause seriously obstructs the navigation of the Ohio, on the Marietta side, in time of low water.

Early in 1868 the City Council of Marietta moved against these evils, and sought the interposition of the Legislature, making Hon. William P. Sprague, then Senator—now our Republican candidate for Congress—the agent for the interests of Marietta and of the Muskingum Valley. By the journal of the Senate, we see that he presented the memorial of the Council, and secured (in March, 1869,) the passage of a resolution through the Legislature (22 to 4 in the Senate), requesting Congress to make an appropriation sufficient to construct a dam at the head of Marietta Island, on the Virginia side, in order to concentrate all the water in the north channel, to make uninterrupted navigation at the mouth of the Muskingum. The resolution was transmitted to Congress by the Governor. Probably it had its effect, for we find Congress, to-day, "tinkering" at the matter of building a dam at the head of the Island! Mr. Sprague, now after nigh on to a dozen years, is going to Congress to take personal charge of the matter and "see it through," if it shouldn't happen to be finished within the coming season! Then good-bye to the 'ar of sand.

But $2,000 was also wanted at once to expend in the mouth of the Muskingum. The public works were then in bad order, and to talk about an appropriation was to excite derision. In spite of many discouragements Mr. Sprague "went for" the $2,000. The Committees on finance and public works both reported against. But through energetic work, personally waiting on every member of the Senate, he finally on bringing the matter up in the open Senate, carried it through by 21 to 8; and then engineered it through the House. That $2,000 was a very important item to the Muskingum Valley, and has aided us materially—secured through the industrious efforts of Mr. Sprague. As our people are just now greatly interested in these matters, we have looked into the records of the facts.

HEAVY FAILURE.

The suspension of Francis Skinner & Co., of New York and Boston, wholesale commission dealers, is announced. Their liabilities are stated at $4,500,000. Their principal creditors, to the extent of $2,700,000 are the following New England manufacturing companies: Pepperill, Laconia, Androscoggin, Naumkeag and Bates companies, are all good, and their losses will be fully covered by their surplus. Very little of Skinner & Co.'s notes have been in circulation here. The cause of the failure is said to be speculation in railroad stocks. Wall street intensely dull to-day.

BY THE ATLANTIC CABLE.

The Loss of the Captain—Departure of Saldanha for London—Count D'Eu in Lisbon—Affairs in China, &c., &c.

Loss of the Captain.

Her Majesty's ships Inconstant, brings news of the loss of the Captain. She reports that the Captain, before sailing, narrowly escaped distruction by fire. The packing of her feed pipe ignited, and the fire had made considerable progress before discovered and it was extinguished with difficulty. During the gale one of her heavy guns got loosened from its fastenings, in consequence of the tremendous rolling of the ship, and suddenly swinging around struck a gunner killing him instantly. The Shipping Gazette demands a strict investigation. The British public should know how one of the staunchest vessels afloat foundered in weather which a collier might have outlived.

Personal.

LISBON, September 12.—The Count and Countess D'Eu arrived yesterday from Rio Janeiro, and will leave immediately for Bordeaux. The Duke of Saldanha has started for London to fill the post of Ambassador at the Court of St. James.

Affairs in China Unsatisfactory.

LONDON, September 12.—At last advices from China, affairs at Tientsin were unsatisfactory. The Chinese were violent in conduct, and concentrating troops there. A project for laying another telegraph cable to America is announced.

MAINE ELECTION.

Republican Majority in the State 6,500—All Republican Congressmen Elected—Large Majority in the Legislature.

PORTLAND, September 12, 1 A. M.—One hundred and fifteen towns give Perham 25,431, and Roberts 20,180. Those not heard from gave last year 1,291 Republican majority, so Perham's majority must certainly be 6,500. The total vote is slightly larger than last year. In the First Congressional District Lynch, Republican, has 1,300 majority. The other districts give larger Republican majorities. The Legislature will probably contain a trifle more Democrats than last year. The Democrats, perhaps, carried three counties, one more than last year.

PORTLAND, September 12.—Lewiston gives Roberts, Democrat, for Governor, 78 majority and elects two Democratic Representatives. Auburn gives Perham, Republican, 102 majority and elects a Republican Representative. Portland gives Perham 2,135, Roberts 1,724, against last year, Chamberlain, Republican, 1,814, Smith, Democrat, 848, and Hitchborn, temperance, 139. Westbrook gives Perham 267, Roberts 340, against last year Chamberlain 370, Smith 328, and Hitchborn 35. Bethel gives Perham 225, and Roberts 323, against last year Chamberlain 234, Smith 110, and Hitchborn 14. Gorham gives Perham 336, and Roberts 210 against last year Chamberlain 380, Smith 201, and Hitchborn 17. Six towns sum up: Perham 4,069, Roberts 3,297, against last year Chamberlain 3,363, Smith 2,188, and Hitchborn 236. Rockland gives Perham 430, Roberts 390, a gain of 162 over the Republican majority. All but four towns in Androscoggin county give Perham 2,317, Roberts 2,067; last year the same towns gave Chamberlain 2,189, Hitchborn 481 and Smith 1,475. Six Republican Representatives favoring Morrill for United States Senator and two Democrats are elected. One hundred towns give Perham, Republican, 23,758, and Roberts, Democrat, 18,089. Republican majority 5,090, against last year, Chamberlain 21,167, Smith 15,834 and Hitchborn 2,391. Lynch is undoubtedly elected in the First, which was the only doubtful district.

BANGOR, September 12.—The election in this city passed off quietly. The Democrats carried the city.

Acting Attorney General Talbot has given an opinion, which, if sustained, will prevent the quasi registration of foreign vessels under the American flag by "sea letters," and leave no chance for recruiting our merchant marine, except through Congressional action. He decides that the right of American citizens to acquire property in foreign ships is a natural right independent of statutory law, and such property is no more entitled to protection by the United States than any other property of an American citizen. It is also decided that neither the President nor the Secretary of the Treasury, nor any customs officer has authority to give any certificate or sea letter showing the nationality of a vessel. The privilege of carrying the American flag is under the regulation of Congress, and the statutes have not made that privilege practically available to any ships except those only registered or enrolled at some Custom House. A certificate of American ownership of a foreign built vessel issued by any Federal officer would be extra official, and not entitled to recognition in foreign ports. The main idea of the opinion is that capitalists cannot buy ships of all nations, either in time of war or peace, and exchange the flags at their own will, claiming the protection of the particular Government whose flag happens to be flying at the masthead at the particular time of spoliation by a belligerent. This must be authorized by legislation, and until Congress enacts laws authorizing it, no foreign built vessels can claim our protection in any way.

OWNER WANTED.—Officer Andrew Moon, of the Mayor's police, has in his possession a handsome gold pencil, for which an owner is wanted. Mr. Moon came into possession of the pencil in this wise: Yesterday a boy named E. Coffey, formerly a newsboy, called at Cimiotti's pawn establishment and offered the pen for sale. Suspecting that it was stolen, the clerk sent for an officer and had the lad arrested. He stated that he got the pen from another newsboy, paying him two dollars for it. Satisfied that the boy had not stolen it, he was released, the officer retaining the pen until the owner calls.

CHALLENGE ACCEPTED.—The Chronicle base ball nine accepts the challenge of the Unknown for a game, and respectfully suggests that, as the latter club is entirely unknown to them, that they name time place, &c., for the game. The Chronicle nine are in earnest and can be ready on a moment's warning, so expert are they in the business, and if the Unknown were never beaten they may look out for such a defeat as only the Red Stockings or Athletics would be capable of giving them.

Police Intelligence.

[Before Mayor Brush.]

FEMALE ROW IN CHERRY ALLEY.

Maggie Berry appeared before Mayor Brush yesterday and lodged complaint against Mrs. Sarah Reynolds for assault and battery. She stated that defendant spit in her face, pulled her hair and otherwise maltreated her. Warrant issued.

UNPROVOKED ASSAULT.

Bridget Dean complained of the conduct of Michael Hanahan, who she alleged committed an unprovoked assault and battery upon her by striking and knocking her down, throwing her down a flight of stairs, &c., &c.

ALLEGED LARCENY OF BOOTS.

Jacob Snyder, a shoemaker doing business at No. 258 Webster avenue, made an information charging Wm. Douglass, a negro, with the larceny of a pair of new boots. It seems that on Sunday morning the accused called at Snyder's and went into his workshop for the purpose of getting a pair of child's shoes which had been repaired. After he had gone the boots were missed and of course he was suspected. Officer Moon arrested him, the stolen boots were handed over, and in default of bail, Douglass was committed to jail to await trial.

A MIXED CASE.

Johanna O'Brien preferred a charge of assault and battery against Michael Sullivan, alleging that he caught hold of her and tried to kiss her against her will. John O'Brien, husband of the deponent, who witnessed the occurrence, interfered in behalf of his wife, and, it seems, treated Sullivan to a severe castigation. At least the latter thinks so, for on being arrested yesterday on the charge instituted by Mrs. O'Brien, he promptly retaliated by preferring a charge of aggravated assault and battery. The defendants each gave bail for a hearing on Saturday next. They reside in the Ninth ward.

FLAG PRESENTATION.

The Cochran Zouaves Presented with a Magnificent Silk Flag.

Last evening an interesting flag presentation took place in front of the O'Hara School House, on Penn street, Twelfth ward, a crowd of between two and three thousand people being in attendance. The flag, which was a magnificent silk one, was presented by the ladies of the Twelfth ward to the Cochran Zouaves (named in honor of A. J. Cochran, Esq., City Treasurer), a new military company that is in a prosperous condition, and composed of some of the most popular citizens in the ward. The presentation speech was made by H. C. Mackrell, Esq., who referred to the banner and what it symbolized, and said that he had the pleasure of presenting the flag on behalf of the ladies of the Twelfth ward. J. E. McKelvey, Esq., on behalf of the company received the flag in an appropriate and eloquent speech which elicited great applause. After this, speeches were made by W. C. Moreland, Esq., and General A. L. Pearson. Captain Kilgore's company was present and presented a fine appearance. A large number of houses in the vicinity were decorated and illuminated and the affair was in every respect a most successful one.

BISHOP DOMENEC.

The Children of the Several Catholic Churches and Schools of this City Present an Address of Welcome to the Bishop—Six Thousand Children Present.

Yesterday morning a grand demonstration took place at the Cathedral; the children of the several Catholic schools and churches of the city and vicinity turned out to welcome Bishop Domenec. It is estimated there were six thousand children present, and many were unable to gain admittance to the Cathedral.

Thomas Bigley, one of the scholars at the Cathedral school read the following:

ADDRESS OF WELCOME.

Greeting to our beloved Bishop:

RT. REVEREND AND BELOVED FATHER: Once more it has become the pleasing duty of your flock to bid you "Welcome Home."

Again have we, your children, assembled at the suggestion of your devoted clergy to re-echo in our childish tones the sentiments of our elders, and to tell you in simple words how glad we are to see you in our midst. Here, every Catholic congregation of Pittsburgh is represented, and you have but to glance at the thousands of smiling faces, which throng this vast Cathedral, to feel that our assertion is not vain, for there you can read in characters not to be mistaken, the happiness which fills our young hearts. During your long absence (to us so long) we were not forgetful of the promise made to you in our sad farewell. Bright winged angels have surely been deputed to watch over you amid the perils of your long voyage. The aid of your powerful patron, St. Michael, was daily invoked, that faithful to his trust, he might assist you while battling in the cause of the Holy Church, and restore you in safety to your home. And now your journey is prosperously ended, but how could it be otherwise? Daily experience proves the truth of the fact that children's prayers are rarely denied. In our hearts we felt we were not forgotten in your petition, and that though the broad Atlantic rolled between, you daily carried your remembrance of us to God's Holy altar, and with upraised hands invoked a blessing upon your distant but much loved children. The azure sky of sunny Italy might well have tempted you to forget the cloud-bound city of your adoption.

The address then referred to the fact that the Bishop had not forgotten his children, but as he had knelt at the martyr's shrine his prayers for them had ascended to the throne of the Almighty, and said that in the presence of the Venerable Fathers of the Ecumenical Council he had proclaimed the fidelity of American Catholics to the Holy See, concluding by saying that throughout the length and breadth of the diocese words of welcome would greet him, in all its green valleys and mountain homes, but there would be no address more sincere than the "Welcome Home" of his affectionate children of Pittsburgh.

RESPONSE OF THE BISHOP.

Bishop Domenec responded briefly, saying that words would not be sufficient to express the joy which he felt at listening to their address, and at being able to be present among his little children again. It was a feeling such as was experienced by the father who had been absent from his children for some length of time. The Bishop then said that the religion of their church was the religion of love. He enjoined them to be faithful to their church, and never forget the sisters who were present and who devoted their lives to the work of education and mercy. He concluded by expressing the hope that they would all be faithful to the teachings of the church.

THE INTER-STATE FAIR.

The Opening Day.

Indications of a Successful Exhibition.

Large Displays of Agricultural Implements, Manufactures, Etc.

Description of Some of the More Noticeable Features.

The Inter-State Fair opened yesterday, and under auspices which indicate a very successful exhibition. In all our State and county fairs of which we have any recollection, Monday has been devoted to entries, the arrangement of articles, etc., and no visitors were admitted. Tuesday forenoon stock was admitted, and the visitors began to assemble on the grounds Tuesday afternoon. Wednesday and Thursday were the grand days, and Friday the "winding up" day. The present fair, however, will be extended over four full days—Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. Yesterday there was a continual stream of wagons passing into the grounds, and unusual bustle and activity in unloading and arranging the goods for exhibition. In making the rounds, of course many vacant places were encountered, but the display was unusually full and attractive considering that this was the first day of the fair week. Goods were coming in during the entire day, and up to a late hour in the evening, and most of the unoccupied places were marked "taken." We append a brief description of the grounds, as presented yesterday:

THE HARDWARE DEPARTMENT.

This building is the first which the visitor on foot will reach, and it is located on the rising ground to the right of the entrance. It is well stored with all kinds of goods in the hardware line, and contains many attractive features.

THE WOODEN WARE DEPARTMENT is next in order, and quite a number of articles are on exhibition here, although the display is not as full as it should, and no doubt will yet be.

THE ART REPOSITORY.

This is the next building which will attract attention, and it will be found well worthy of a visit from the lovers of art. The walls are adorned with beautiful and costly oil paintings, and other artistic productions, and conspicuous among these is T. Buchanan Read's great painting of "Sheridan's Ride." At four o'clock in the afternoon, Mr. J. B. Roberts, the tragedian, recited the thrilling poem, descriptive of the ride, in the presence of an audience of about two hundred ladies and gentlemen. The poem will be recited frequently during to-day.

DOMESTIC HALL AND ART GALLERY.

Domestic Hall, in the center of which is the Art Gallery, contains many articles of utility and beauty. There are some novel things in the way of of domestic goods, and some highly artistic things in the way of photographs, etc. These departments are quite full, and visitors linger here with much interest.

RUSTIC LAKE AND FOUNTAINS.

Passing out of Domestic Hall, the Rustic Lake and Fountains, surrounded with evergreens, and "animated" with stuffed birds and beasts, meet the eye, and challenge attention. We may have something more to say about this "work of art" hereafter.

VEGETABLE HALL.

Very little display has yet been made in this department, but it is expected to fill up rapidly to-day. Fruits and vegetables being of a perishable nature, exhibitors could not well have their displays ready for exhibition on Monday.

FLORAL HALL.

The arrangements in this department were not completed yesterday, but all the places were "taken," and plants and shrubbery from our leading nurseries were being brought in during the day, and tastefully arranged. Our florists never fail to make a very creditable show, and this department, we doubt not, will be worth seeing.

MECHANICAL DEPARTMENT.

We are glad to note that the display of agricultural implements is quite full; and in addition to the farm tools, there are many other labor-saving devices, for workers in wood and iron, and also machines to relieve the burdens of the housekeeper. No one should visit the fair without carefully inspecting the numerous machines in this department.

THE STOCK DEPARTMENT.

The stalls for horses, cattle, sheep, swine, poultry, etc., were nearly all empty. This department, indeed, is the most unpromising of all. We were assured, however, that numerous entries had been made, and that the stock would be brought in to-day.

THE RACE COURSE.

The driving course is not in good order, as work was delayed on it too long. There were several "nags" put upon the course yesterday afternoon, but no contest took place. The ground is not well settled, and we doubt whether the owners of fast stock will care to make exhibitions of speed over this course.

SIDE SHOWS.

There are numerous side shows on the ground, and visitors will have more than one opportunity to spend extra quarters. Van Amburg & Co.'s great Golden Menagerie will open to-day and will be the chief attraction, especially for the young folks.

REFRESHMENTS.

There will be no lack of refreshments, judging from the number of beer and cake stands which have been permitted to open up. They can be found dotted all over the grounds, and as the owners have had to pay handsomely for the privilege of selling, they expect to run off immense quantities of "stuff" during the continuance of the fair. The ladies can "go it" on cakes, candies, and nuts, washed down with mineral water, while the gents will naturally take to ale and lager, as water is proverbially scarce at Iron City Park.

A HINT.

On the whole the fair promises to be a success. The visitors yesterday numbered several hundred, and they are expected to increase to thousands to-day. The great nuisance to everybody is the dust. If no rain falls, and the managers do not employ a few sprinkling carts, the dust will become intolerable, and keep many away from the grounds. Half a dozen carts, operated at night, would suffice to lay the dust, and render the grounds pleasant for the next day. Will the managers take the hint?

Having sketched the general features of the fair, we now proceed to notice some of the more prominent articles on exhibition:

JOHN B. HERRON & CO.

Near the upper end of the building denominated the "Hardware Department," will be seen the display of stoves, etc., by John B. Herron & Co., of No. 291 Liberty street. Among the collection we observed some fine specimens of heating, parlor, and cooking stoves, the whole making up an assortment not excelled by any exhibitor in the stove line on the fair grounds. The smoothness of the casting and the elegance of finish displayed in the stoves exhibited by this firm cannot be surpassed. This fact, added to that other, viz: that none of the stoves exhibited by Messrs. Herron & Co., were gotten up specially for the fair, makes an important point in favor of the firm. We are assured that all the stoves which they have on exhibition are in precisely the same condition as those manufactured and shipped by them every day to all parts of the country. The public, bearing this fact in mind while inspecting the assortment of Messrs. Herron & Co., will be ready to confess that nothing of finer finish in the way of stoves was ever before seen in this country. We will notice the display of this firm more in detail in our article for to-morrow's issue, when we will take occasion to descant upon the merits of the various stoves on exhibition.

B. S. KOLL & CO.,

Of No. 147 Wood street, corner of Virgin alley, have on exhibition, in the "Hardware Department," their celebrated Enterprise cooking range and the slow combustion warm air furnace, "Metropolis." The Enterprise range, it is claimed, is far ahead of anything of the kind ever invented. Among the many advantages claimed for the Enterprise over other ranges, we may mention those of economy, convenience and durability, which its inventor proposes to demonstrate to the satisfaction of any who are skeptical. It has elevated double ovens, which, for baking and roasting, cannot be surpassed. The elevation of these ovens render them more convenient certainly than most of the ranges of a different pattern.

As to the warm air furnace, "Metropolis," too much cannot be said of it in the way of commendation. Having more heating surface than any other furnace, it consequently diffuses a greater amount of heat; and requiring, as it does, attention only once in twenty-four hours, its value as a heater of churches and other public buildings cannot be overestimated. The "Metropolis" and the "Enterprise," standing upon their own merits, will no doubt excite the admiration of all who see them during the coming days of the exposition.

MITCHELL, STEVENSON & CO.,

The well known firm of stove dealers, at No. 194 Liberty street, is in the "Hardware Department" with a very good assortment of cooking stoves, and heating stoves for parlors, offices, stores, &c. Among the most prominent articles in the display of this firm is the "Model Cook," a stove that stands without a superior in the United States. It is first-class in every respect, and will not fail to attract the attention and win the praise of every visitor to the fair who gives it a thorough examination. Next comes the improved "Dictator" cooking stove, which may be classed among the practical, economical, durable and useful stoves of the period. The "Dictator" can be arranged for either wood or coal, and is made either with or without the extension top. The stoves we have mentioned are noteworthy, not only in respect of their merits in point of economy and durability, but for the beauty of design and the elegance and finish of the castings, and for many other equally important advantages, of which we shall speak at greater length in a future article. The heating stoves will also be adverted to in our next description of the Fair and its numerous attractions.

WHITEHEAD'S PHOTOGRAPHS.

In Artists' Hall, Mr. W. H. Whitehead, proprietor of the comparatively new, but already famous, parlor gallery at No. 29 Fifth avenue, has on exhibition a rare collection of photographic work. Indeed, it may be said with truth, that such a display of fine work in the photographic line was never before witnessed at a fair, nor in a gallery. The collection embraces all kinds of work in the photographic art, from plain pictures to pictures finished in India ink, water colors, etc. Prominent among the India ink pictures, we noticed a splendid life-size photograph of Dr. Coffey, one of our prominent physicians. It is pronounced by all who have seen it, a perfect likeness, and in point of finish it is unsurpassable. The same has been the verdict in regard to the beautiful water color portrait of Rev. Wm. J. Reid, pastor of the first U. P. Church of this city. Mr. Whitehead's specialties are the Rembrandt, the porcelain and the water color, in which he stands unrivalled in the "artist world." The porcelain small photograph is without doubt the finest specimen of photography ever presented to the public, and Mr. Whitehead is to be congratulated on his efforts and his success in producing such marvels of artistic skill. Still, in any exhibition one can only faintly conceive an idea of the vast resources of an establishment so well represented. In order to fully comprehend the grandeur and magnificence of the work produced by Mr. Whitehead people should call at the Parlor Gallery, No. 29 Fifth avenue.

ALBEE & COLE,

Photographic Real Estate Agents, of No. 10½ Sixth (late St. Clair) street, occupy a large space in Artists' Hall, with a collection of photographic views of the suburban residences in the vicinity of Pittsburgh and Allegheny, together with views of the Allegheny suspension bridge, the Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne and Chicago Railway bridge which spans the Allegheny, and many other magnificent scenes. This is perhaps the most unusual display in the photographic line ever made at a fair in this country. The enterprise is so new, comparatively speaking, that visitors are slow to comprehend the collection as a reality, and representing an accomplished fact. Mr. Albee was among the first artists in the country to embark in this branch of the art, and the success of the firm is evidence (if any were wanting after seeing the specimens on exhibition) of the remarkable skill of the artist. Among the specimens, and embracing the specialties of the firm, are views of manufactories, landscapes, groups, &c., together with sample work of machinery, and advertising cards. Messrs. Albee & Cole may well congratulate themselves on their display, for it is considered one of the most attractive on the grounds.

B. L. H. DABBS,

The famous photographer at Nos. 46 and 48 Sixth street, who is never behind any competitor, in respect of elegance or profusion of display, nor of the artistic excellence of each particular article in his collection, is again prominently established in Artist's Hall, with an exhibition of photographic work far exceeding any that he has ever before presented to the public gaze. The display contains some magnificent specimens of painted and plain porcelains, oil paintings and water colors. In a future article during the progress of the fair we propose to give a full description of the various specimens in the fine collection mentioned.

W. W. WALLACE'S MARBLEIZED MANTELS.

Our enterprising fellow-citizen, Mr. W. W. Wallace, exhibits in the Hardware Department a large and splendid assortment of marbleized mantels, which for beauty of design and elegance of finish cannot be excelled in the country. His styles embrace the Black and Gold, Verd Antique, Sienna, Lisbon, Plymouth Black, Brocatelle, Spanish, White Italian, Galway Green, Egyptian, and other varieties. The colors are really gorgeous, and the surface finish is comparable only to that of the finest mirror. Mr. Wallace has invested a very heavy capital in the business, has supplied himself with all the most modern machinery, employs none but the best skilled workmen, and is therefore enabled to compete with any other manufacturer in the country. He will duplicate, at his warehouse in this city, the bills of any eastern firm, and guarantees to western builders even better terms than they can get anywhere else, east or west. His marbleized work cannot be stained with smoke, oil or acid, and is therefore more durable than plain marble, and much more beautiful, always preserving the same elegance and freshness of appearance. His factory is the only place in Western Pennsylvania where marbleized mantles are manufactured, and his trade is consequently very large. This enables him to sell at a small margin of profit; and as he has always made it a point to introduce new patterns as soon as they are designed, his customers can rely on getting the latest styles without any additional cost. "Beauty and Utility Combined" is the motto which Mr. Wallace has adopted, and that he faithfully carries out the spirit of the motto will be apparent to all who examine into the merits of his mantles. His office and show rooms are at Nos. 319 and 321 Liberty street.

HALL'S PATENT POTATO DIGGER.

Among the implements exhibited in the Agricultural Department, none is more worthy the attention of farmers than John Hall's patent Potato Digger. This is a new invention, and the ne plus ultra of potato diggers. It is as simple in construction as an ordinary shovel plow, and quite as durable and as easily managed. It is drawn by two horses, one horse walking on either side of the row, and the potatoes are thrown to the surface and entirely freed from dirt by means of a riddle or separator, in the rear of the shovel, over which the contents of the row are made to pass. The tubers are thus unearthed, and made ready for the pickers, as fast as a team can walk. One man and a team can raise potatoes as fast as twenty pickers can gather them into baskets. This is one of the most important farm inventions of the present century, and its cheapness and durability, combined with its extraordinary utility, will cause it to supercede all other means of digging potatoes. We have witnessed a practical test of this machine, made on grounds near this city, in the presence of a number of experienced gentlemen, and the unanimous judgment was, that this implement did its work in the most thorough and satisfactory manner. We will not attempt any description of the Digger, preferring that our readers should call and examine for themselves. It is for sale at at S. Hare & Sons', 129 Liberty street.

AN EXCELLENT SEWING MACHINE.

Mr. James Espy, agent of the American Button Hole Overseaming Family Sewing Machine has a very eligible stand near Domestic Hall, which is elegantly fitted up, and admirably calculated to display his machines to advantage. The booth is surmounted with the American colors and presents a very attractive appearance. The machine has several points of merit not possessed by other machines, and the ladies regard it with great favor. The agency is at No. 12 Fifth avenue, corner of Market street.

THE EMPIRE SEWING MACHINE.

Messrs. Carson Bros., the General Agents of the Empire Sewing Machine Company, have an eligible booth in Domestic Hall, and the crowds which surrounded it yesterday showed how popular these machines have become with the ladies. The Family Machine has been justly characterized as "simplicity and perfection combined," and its easy motion, durability and capacity for all kinds of work, render it the machine for the family. The Manufacturing Machines are equally valuable for the various purposes for which they are designed. The attention of the ladies is specially directed to these machines. The agency of the company is at No. 49 Sixth (late St. Clair) street.

DURYEA'S SATIN GLOSS AND CORN STARCH.

In a conspicuous place in Domestic Hall we found a liberal display of Duryea's Satin-Gloss Starch, and Improved Corn Starch, the former for laundry purposes, and the latter for culinary use. In every instance where Duryea's Improved Corn Starch has been exhibited in the United States and Europe it has not only received the highest prize medal, but in most cases an additional superlative report and diploma for its incontestible excellence. The same remark will apply also to the Satin-Gloss Starch, and both are therefore recommended by disinterested judges as the best in the world. Not the least among the attractions at the stand set apart for the display of Duryea's starch, are the numerous prize medals which have from time to time been awarded the Messrs. Duryea. Among these are the first prize medal at the International Exposition, Paris, 1867, for the "perfection of quality" of this starch; first prize medal, International Exhibition, London, 1862, for the "exceedingly excellent" quality of their goods; first prize medal, International Exposition, Hamburg, 1863, for the "superior quality" of the goods; first prize medal, Pennsylvania Agricultural Society, 1863; first prize medal, International Exhibition, at Cologne, 1865; also by the American Institute, New York, 1857; by the Maryland Institute, Baltimore, 1858; by the New York State Agricultural Society, 1859; at Amsterdam, 1869; and several others. With these recommendations, Duryea's Starch can be regarded in no other aspect than the best in the world. During the progress of the fair samples of the starch will be presented to housekeepers and laundresses.

SCHMERTZ'S SHOE HOUSE.

Messrs. W. E. Schmertz & Co., the well known shoe dealers, of No. 31 Fifth avenue, exhibit some fine specimens of work in Domestic Hall. This firm, which is one of the most reliable and extensive in the city, take pains in selecting the very best makes, and furnish their customers with the choicest and most fashionable goods in the market, at the lowest rates. In no article of wear is there so much disparity in quality and price as in the matter of boots and shoes; and the firm which discards all inferior brands, and makes it an object and an aim to send out nothing but what is warranted to give satisfaction in the using, confers a great benefit upon the community, and commands their confidence as well as patronage. Such has been the object and aim of Messrs. Schmertz & Co., and we can commend them as every way reliable and worthy of patronage.

AGRICULTURAL IMPLEMENTS—SAMUEL HARE & SON.

In the Agricultural Department there is no better display than that of Samuel Hare & Son, who are represented on the grounds by Mr. H. B. Long. The entries made by this extensive firm comprise the following articles: three Champion single mowers, mower and reaper with dropper, a Buckeye grain drill, a hay, straw and stalk cutter, a fanning mill, Aultman & Taylor's eight and ten horse separator, a hay, straw and stalk cutter adapted for horse or steam power, a broadcast seed sower, a dog power churn, three churns with patent attachments, the latest improved Buckeye cider mill, Barker's patent grain measure, a vegetable cutter, a Buckeye thresher, manufactured at Mansfield, Ohio, by Blymyer, Day & Co., and for sale, together with all the above mentioned superior inventions, by Samuel Hare & Son, No. 129 Liberty street. The articles placed on exhibition by this enterprising firm are so numerous, and their qualities of an order so far above the ordinary run of that species of implements, that we are compelled to defer a detailed notice thereof at the present time. In our Wednesday's issue the subject will be resumed.

PLOWS—WOODS & BROWN.

This firm, whose warehouse is located at 121 and 123 Liberty street, have entered a number of the superior plows, for which their establishment has become so justly celebrated. Among the plows which the firm have placed on exhibition are the celebrated "Hillsides" and "Valleys," the "Peacock," made of steel, and a variety of plow points, the latter of which were made in air furnaces, and hence are superior to any other point manufactured, because harder and more durable, a fact which is patent to every farmer in the country. To-morrow we will give a fuller notice of the display made by Messrs. Woods & Brown.

THE SAMPSON AND HOWE SCALES.

Mr. E. H. Souder, of No. 102 Third avenue, the agent in this city for the Sampson and Howe scales, has placed on exhibition four specimens of scales, two of the Sampson and two of the Howe invention, including a hay scale. Their scales are all of the largest class, but are nevertheless such marvels of accuracy that they indicate variations of three or four ounces as promptly as the counter scales of a retail grocer. The hay scales, by a very ingenious but simple arrangement, are entirely unaffected by the oscillations caused by drawing loaded wagons upon them, and the bearings are so equalized that the weight may be placed upon any part of the platform with the same accurate result. It has been said by the press that the Sampson scale is the nearest approach to a perfect scale ever reached in this or any other country, and that it is regarded as the most important invention of the age in which we live. These scales are coming into very general use, and receive universal commendation. We consider both the Sampson and Howe scales as equal to any ever invented, and we unhesitatingly pronounce them as among the needed inventions of the age. Visitors to the fair should not fail to witness the operations of the Sampson and Howe scales. We can promise that at no fair ever held has there been an exhibition of scales that surpassed that of which we have written.

FAIRBANKS STANDARD SCALES.

The oldest Scale manufactory in the world is that of E. and F. Fairbanks & Co., which was established in 1830. Since that time many improvements have been made and modifications adopted with reference to the wants and conveniences of the commercial and agricultural community. At the present time over five hundred men are employed at the manufactory. But so well are the scales known, and so extensively are they used, the demand always exceeds the supply. In fact the name "Fairbanks" on a scale beam is considered sufficient guarantee of excellence. The depot for these scales in Pittsburgh is at the branch warehouse of Messrs. Fairbanks, Morse & Co., No. 102 Second avenue, where scales adapted to every class of weighing, are kept constantly on hand. This firm are also agents for the famous Baldwin Alarm Money Drawer, a sure protection against thieves. Call and see them.

THE ACME REAPER AND MOWER.

In the agricultural department we observed the Acme Reaping Machine, with dropper attachment, and the Acme Mower, two new candidates for public favor, having been patented as recently as last spring. Mr. G. W. N. Yost, of Corry, Pa., is the inventor of the Acme machines, and we think his invention is a perfect success. They have already competed at four field tests and have taken premiums in every instance. The Acme will receive further attention at our hands ere the fair closes.

DINING HALL.

This commodious hall is in charge of Mr Frank Dressler, who cannot be excelled in the way of getting up good dinners. Mr. Dressler is prepared to accommodate at one time, in the dining hall, two hundred and twenty persons, and we can guarantee that all who visit the hall will be fed to their satisfaction on the best that the market affords. Mr. Dressler will also serve dinners in another building set apart for the accommodation of the various committees, where eighty persons can be seated at table. To the hungry we say, take dinner with Dressler, at Dining Hall.

WESTERN FILE WORKS.

In the Hardware Department, Messrs. Blake & Fessenden, manufacturers of superior cast steel files, at the Western File Works, Beaver Falls, Pennsylvania, have made a splendid display of specimens of their work. The files on exhibition are pronounced by competent judges the best ever displayed at a fair or elsewhere in this vicinity, and the popular verdict is, that there is nothing in that line hereabouts that can compete with the files manufactured at the Western File Works.

LIGHT CASTINGS, HINGES, ETC.

Messrs. Livingston & Co., iron founders and manufactures of fine light castings, hinges, bolts, sash pulleys latches and other articles of builders' hardware, have also an allotted space in the "hardward department" which they have filled with a most beautiful assortment of their wares, with which they have ingeniously formed the name of the firm, making the display doubly attractive. The office and works of this enterprising firm are located near the outer depot, Allegheny City, and the P. O. address is Lock Box 302.

STEAM PUMPS.

John M. Cooper & Co., of No. 882 Penn street, exhibit one or two specimens of their celebrated steam pumps. In our next issue the merits of these excellent pumps will be duly set forth.

NEESON'S EXCHANGE.

Mr. James Neeson, the genial proprietor of the Iron City Hotel, in the Twelfth Ward, is running a first class saloon on the grounds, which is denominated on a large flag as Neeson's Exchange. James will do a good business.

TO-DAY'S PROGRAMME.

The inaugural address will be delivered by Governor Geary at 12:30 P. M. Major General Meade and staff, Major General Brevoort and staff, Major General Jordan, and General Baxter will be present. The military will escort these distinguished visitors to the fair grounds. On their arrival they will be escorted through the grounds by General Sweitzer and Staff. Judge Collier will make the address of welcome on behalf of the Inter-State Fair.

GOVERNOR GEARY.

Arrival of His Excellency and Party.

A Brilliant Reception—Speeches at the Monongahela House—Remarks of Governor Geary, General C. W. Brevort, General Russell and Others—The Grand Military Review—The Procession To-day.

His Excellency John W. Geary and party arrived on the 12:12 train last evening, and were met at the Union Depot by a large number of citizens and several military companies, and a procession was formed to escort the Governor and party to the Monongahela House. The escort was headed by the Zouave Drum Corps and was composed of Captain Kilgore's company, the Avery Guards (colored), the Cochran Zouaves, and a number of carriages. A large crowd gathered in front of the Monongahela House, and in response to loud calls for a speech the Governor appeared upon the balcony, and was introduced by General Pearson, who said that he had the pleasure of introducing to them Hon. John W. Geary, Governor of Pennsylvania.

REMARKS OF GOVERNOR GEARY.

General Pearson, Officers, Soldiers and Fellow-citizens:

Arriving here at the hour of midnight, as I have done on this occasion, I had no reason to expect from my fellow-citizens of Pittsburgh this brilliant reception. But I remember well a few years ago when I was a citizen of this place that there existed a custom among the people of this Iron city which were called surprise parties. And I must confess you entirely surprise me to-night, and that you have captured me, perhaps not quite so forcibly as the Emperor Napoleon was captured by the King of Germany, but I must confess that I am perhaps a more willing captive than was the Emperor Napoleon. [Applause.] It is the soldiers, rank and file, who have won the victories of our nation, and I feel proud of your appearance to-night. I beg to return to you my sincere thanks for the high honor you have conferred on me to-night, as we shall have to-morrow another demonstration (and there are now promises of a most glorious day) I shall take pleasure in making a few remarks to you after the parade is over. Thanking you again for this high compliment I would say that there are others here who are well-known to the citizens of Pittsburgh and we thank you for the reception you have given us.

Governor Geary then said he had the pleasure of introducing General C. W. Brevort, of Philadelphia.

REMARKS OF GENERAL BREVORT.

General Brevort said: I thank you, gentlemen, for the kind manner in which you have been pleased to receive me. I have been mistaken for a much greater man to-night, and I shall ask pardon of General Meade, than whom a better soldier does not exist. I thank you, gentlemen, for this reception.

Gov. Geary then introduced Gen. A. L. Russell, Adjutant General of the State, who said: It is hardly necessary for me to remark that after having for ten years been a resident of your State, it affords me more than ordinary pleasure to be called on to visit you on this occasion. I have no doubt if I could see your faces I would recognize many familiar countenances. We have come here on no ordinary occasion, to attend not only to the review of the troops of the Eighteenth Military Division of the State, but we have come here on the extraordinary occasion of an Inter-State fair. I have no doubt, or at least I have reason to believe that upon the occasion of the review to-morrow there will be among you the Governor of the State of New York, and the Governor of your great western State of Ohio will be here to-morrow and participate in your great jubilee. I have nothing, gentlemen, to say for myself, but during the brief period in which I have occupied the position of Adjutant General I have endeavored, as far as possible, to perfect the organization of our militia. I can say to you now that we have the prospect of obtaining such arms and equipments as will make Pennsylvania soldiers proud of themselves, and have the authority of the Governor in saying that arrangements are to be made by which the military companies will be supplied with the best pattern of breech loading arms. [Applause.] And when this object is accomplished, we can safely say that the militia of the Commonwealth will be second to none in the country. We can then stand side by side with New York, Massachusetts or any other State in this respect. We have organized regiments in our State that will compare favorably with those of any other State, and in your own iron city you have the organization of a regiment that will perhaps eclipse the Seventh New York or any other regiment. Thanking you, gentlemen, for your kind attention, I will bid you good night.

Governor Geary then introduced Col. Francis Jordan, who, he said, had done great service to the country, having marched to the sea with Sherman.

REMARKS OF COL. JORDAN.

Col. Jordan said that it afforded him great pleasure to come again among the citizens of Pittsburgh, having been here in November, 1861, when he recruited a regiment in this section of the State, and then again in 1866, when he brought the Ninth Pennsylvania through the city, he remembered the kindness he had received. I thank you, gentlemen, for the kindness extended to me. I bid you good-night.

A Model Establishment.

The wholesale shoe store of Gill & Brother, No. 113 Wood street, is eminently worthy of the title, model establishment. The members of the firm are young, energetic, go-ahead business men, and keep up with the times and far in advance of all their competitors. All the goods they sell are manufactured expressly for them, and always turn out as represented. Their stock is always large, and embraces every line of goods that may be inquired for. No doubt a great many country merchants will be in the city this week to attend the fair, and they cannot do better than combine business with pleasure by calling on Gill & Brother, and selecting such goods as they may need. We feel perfectly safe in assuring them that they will not go away dissatisfied. The firm will sell them a much better class of goods than they can purchase in the East, at as reasonable prices.

Circulating Library.

A prospectus has been issued by Mrs. Mary A. Rowley, proposing the organization of a joint stock circulating library association, under the title of the "Iron City Circulating Library Association." The capital stock is to be $3,000, divided into shares of fifty dollars each. It is calculated that this amount would be sufficient to purchase two thousand volumes of suitable books, and that the profits would early enable the managers to make large additions, thus building up in a few years a collection of books that would be a credit to the city. An institution of this kind would be of great benefit to our citizens, especially our mechanics and their families. The circulating libraries of other cities are largely patronized, and we have no doubt that should one be inaugurated here it would prove successful.

TEMPERANCE MEETING.—Now that slavery is dead and buried, and the colored race enfranchised, there is perhaps no more important issue before the country than that of temperance, as related to the interests and welfare of the whole country. Go and hear what the speakers of the Young Men's Christian Temperance Association have to say about these matters at their meeting to-night, at the "Home," Duquesne Way, at eight o'clock. All our citizens are cordially invited. There will be good music, singing, and a number of stirring speeches; and it is all free.

ALLEGHENY.

German Savings Bank.

The completion of the new and magnificent building of the German Savings Bank, on Ohio street, has already been announced. The removal of the bank was accomplished and thrown open to public business yesterday morning. The opening was the occasion of a grand reunion of the officers, stockholders and friends of the organization. After a collation, short speeches and addresses were made, when the party retired. A. Weise, Esq., is the President of the bank, and C. Siebert, Esq., the cashier. The new building has a front of gray stone, is three stories in height, and is an ornament to the city.

The Railroad Sewer—Contract Awarded.

The contract for the construction of the railroad sewer was awarded on yesterday to Messrs. Allen & Dunn. The sewer will extend along the line of the Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne and Chicago Railroad, from the crossing at Ohio street, to connect with the Canal street sewer. The sewer will be six and one-half feet in diameter and 1,400 feet long. The contract will be a most difficult one to fill, as the sewer will run close along the track, which must be constantly propped so as not to interfere with the trains. Perhaps the most difficult part of the contract will be along the line of the abutments of the two bridges, one on Ridge avenue and the other on Martin street. There will be great danger at these places of the abutments, which are about sixteen feet high, caving into the excavation that may be made, and every precaution must be exercised to prevent accident. Messrs. Allen & Dunn are among our our best and most reliable contractors, and the contract could not have been awarded to more responsible parties. The work will be commenced soon, and it is the intention to complete it this season.

AN UNPROFITABLE CUSTOMER.

An Ex-Mayor Arrested for Passing Counterfeit Money.

Yesterday afternoon Chief Clark arrested a man named John Adams, at his residence on Pasture lane, on a charge of passing counterfeit money. Mr. Adams was formerly a Mayor of this city, and filled that position some ten years ago. About two weeks ago Mr. Adams entered the saloon of Andrew Shenkle on Fulton street, and took several drinks. His bill amounted to forty cents, and he offered in payment a twenty dollar counterfeit note on the National Shoe and Leather Bank of New York. He also passed a twenty dollar bill on the same bank in a tobacco store kept by McIlwaine, on Pasture Lane. He also visited the William Tell House, where he succeeded in relieving himself of another bill of the same amount. It is believed that he has carried on these operations for some time, and quite a number of our business men swindled. Chief Clark was informed on Saturday of the affair, and on yesterday succeeded in making the arrest as stated. Word was sent to United States Commissioner Gamble, and this morning he will be brought over for trial. Chief Clark has recovered two of the notes passed.

NON-EPISCOPAL METHODISM.

Thirty-seventh Session of the Pittsburgh Annual Conference—Election of Delegates to the General Conference—The Aid Society, Etc.

FIFTH DAY—MORNING SESSION.

Conference convened at eight and a half o'clock, and was opened with religious exercises conducted by Rev. Francis, of West Virginia. Roll was then called, and the minutes read and approved.

Rev. Mr. Sutton, from the Committee on Sabbath Schools, presented a final report, which was adopted.

Rev. John Scott offered the following amendments to the constitution, which were adopted:

Resolved, That our representatives to the next General Conference be instructed to support and vote for the following as amendments to Section 2, Art. VI of the Constitution under the head of the annual conference, viz: to strike out the following words in the close of paragraph 1, "in the following manner," and "in the following question," and to insert the following after the word missions in line 12 of paragraph 1, viz: "To sustain the ministers and preachers, subject to the provision of Section 3 of this article.

Resolved, That we number the following paragraphs of Section 2 and 3, and that when the word "licentiate" occurs in the Section, the word preacher be inserted in its place.

Conference now proceeded to the election of delegates to the General Conference.

E. A. Brindley and T. F. Scott were appointed tellers.

The Chairman of the Committee on Statistics then presented a report, showing an aggregate membership in the Conference district of 6,339.

The Chairman then announced that the Conference were entitled to twelve representatives to the General Conference—six ministers and six laymen.

On motion it was resolved to elect the laymen first.

The first ballot resulted in the election of ex-Governor Pierpont, Judge Collier, John Redman and T. F. Scott.

The hour of adjournment having arrived, a second ballot was not proceeded with.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

This session was opened with prayer by Rev. E. Mather.

A second ballot was now taken to elect two more lay delegates to the General Conference, and W. Rinehart and B. Fordice were elected, thus completing the list.

Ballots were then taken to elect ministers as delegates, resulting in the election of George Brown, W. Collier, John Scott, P. T. Laisnley, Alex. Clark and H. B. Knight.

Mr. Miller, Treasurer of the Ministerial Aid Society, then read a report showing the receipts from dividends and interest accrued during the past year from the Avery fund to be $5,181 75, and $592 99 from the old fund. The report was adopted.

Rev. J. Cowl moved that the thanks of the Conference be tendered the Treasurer for his valuable services and the interest he has taken in this work. Carried.

Rev. Mr. Mason moved that Conference proceed to the election of a Board of Managers for the Ministerial Aid Society, and nominated the following named gentlemen: Wm. Rinehart, W. J. Troth, John Redman, James Robinson, S. McKeever and G. Westfall, who were elected unanimously.

Rev. James Robinson read the report of the Committee on Claimants to the superannuated ministry, as follows: Geo. Brown $600, Henry Lucas $600, J. W. Rutledge $600, Mrs. Potts $69, Mrs. Elliott $69, Mrs. Lucas $300, Mrs. Williams $200. The report was adopted.

Rev. G. Westfall, from the Committee of Missionary Appropriations read a report which was re-committed.

After the transaction of some routine business Conference adjourned.

Park Improvements.

This evening, John Swan, Esq., will present to the Park Commission at their meeting, two handsome rustic seats, which he has ordered from the East through the City Engineer. The seats are seven feet long, and are the finest specimens of heavy rustic work ever seen here. They will not fail to attract great attention in whatever part of the Park they may be placed, as they show elegant taste, exquisite workmanship and are a great novelty. Each seat cost about seventy-five dollars, which speaks well for the liberality of the donor. It will be well to notice here that all presents given the Commission for the use of the Park will be duly credited to the party, and a book will be opened for recording the names of all those who contribute any curiosity or novelty for the use of the Park, and all the names will be published in the annual report. A number of the same kind of seats are located in Prospect Park, and we are glad to see that they are being introduced here. All these curiosities and tasteful ornaments will add greatly to the appearance and improvements of the parks, and our wealthy citizens should follow the example of Mr. Swan in this respect, and thus be the means of cultivating a high order of taste in our citizens. Two very fine rustic ordnance stands were received yesterday at City Hall, and doubtless the Commission will locate them this evening. They are about seven feet high, and the taste displayed in its construction no words can describe. The rules and regulations of the Park will be placed in the frame, which will be located in the most prominent parts of the Park.

The excavation between Ohio street and the fence of the Penitentiary has at last been filled up, and five park seats have been placed under the tall trees, which improvement will be appreciated by the public. A number of other park seats will be located here, which will make this point an attractive place for the weary pedestrian, seeking shelter from the burning rays of the sun, or to rest his weary limbs.

SOUTH SIDE.

COUNCIL.—East Birmingham Council will hold a meeting this evening.

A SINGULAR ADDRESS.—Yesterday afternoon a letter was handed in at the Birmingham postoffice addressed as follows: "Herman A. Echert, in Bibervais, Biber county, Pa," but it is detained for want of pre-payment of postage. The writer no doubt intends to have it go to Beaver Falls, Beaver county, Pa., but not many persons who read the address, as above indicated, would understand it as such.

Reception of General Meade in Birmingham.

A public reception will be given to General George G. Meade, by Col. J. W. Patterson, Post No. 151, G. A. R., of Birmingham, at the Market Hall, Diamond, this evening. The General will leave the Monongahela House at seven o'clock P. M., arriving at the hall half an hour later. He will be escorted by the Chambers Light Guard, of South Pittsburgh, and members of the Post. Major E. A. Montooth will deliver the reception address. Citizens residing on Carson street are requested to hang out the national colors. After the public reception General Meade and Governor Geary will visit the hall of Post 151, on Bingham street, and there spend a half hour. During the remainder of the evening the distinguished party will be the guests of George Duncan, Esq.

A DESPERATE FELLOW.

Armed with an Axe He Drives the Inmates of a House into the Street—How His Arrest was Effected—An Officer's Life Doubtless Saved.

While seated in his office, in Birmingham, on Saturday evening, a little girl came and told Justice Salisbury that a drunken man in James Mullen's saloon, on Carson between Tenth and Eleventh streets, had chased the inmates of the house into the street with an axe. There were no police officers about at the time and Justice Salisbury went himself to the saloon, he observed the drunken man, James Milligan, with an axe swung over his shoulder threatening to kill any one who came near him or laid hands on him. The Justice endeavored to pacify Milligan, and partially succeeded, Milligan agreeing to behave himself if he (the 'Squire) would only send him into the kitchen. The 'Squire started out for the purpose of informing the saloon keeper of the arrangement, but the wife, who had overheard the conversation, begged her husband not to go in as Milligan meant to kill him. The Justice then started in search of assistance to effect the arrest of Milligan, and finding officers Husted and McCurry, sent them to the saloon.

Officer Husted entered at a rear door, and officer McCurry went in at the front. They found Milligan behind the bar still armed with the ax, and apparently inspecting the liquor. Officer Husted went behind the counter, and drawing his revolver, called to Milligan to surrender. This he refused to do, and raising the axe, when officer Husted came within reach of him, he made a desperate lunge at him. Fortunately Justice Salisbury entered the saloon at this moment, and seeing that there was no chance for officer Husted to escape, the space behind the bar being too small for him to dodge the blow, stepped up behind Milligan, and just as the axe was descending, caught it with the hoop end of his cane and jerked it entirely out of his hand. This intervention undoubtedly saved the life of officer Husted. Milligan was then arrested without any further trouble.

He was taken to the Birmingham lock-up and placed in a cell, while an information for felonious assault and battery was made by James Mullen, the saloon keeper, and one for felonious assault by officer Husted. He had a hearing sometime subsequently, and in default of bail was committed to jail for trial. Justice Salisbury yesterday returned the information to the Court, and the accused will probably be tried this term.

It seemed from the evidence adduced before the Justice that Milligan, who is a brother-in-law of Mullen, the saloon keeper, was in the bar room, intoxicated, and Mullen taking offense at his conduct towards a customer, ordered him to leave the bar room. This he refused to do, and after calling the proprietor several vile names, walked up to the counter and struck across it, the blow reaching Mullen's face. He paid no attention to this, however, and Milligan soon walked into the back kitchen, and, seizing a chair, struck his sister, Mullen's wife. He then seized an axe and threatened to kill all in the house, whereupon they fled and left Milligan master of the situation, until his arrest was effected in the manner above described.

Public Amusements.

OPERA HOUSE.—There was a large attendance at the Opera House last evening on the occasion of the first appearance of Mr. John Collins, who acted the part of "Myles Na Coppaleen" in the interesting drama—Colleen Bawn. Mr. Collins is an excellent delineator of Irish characters, and represents it rather than caricaturing it. Mr. C. T. Nichols as "Denny Mann," was frequently applauded. Mr. W. Donaldson as "Father Tom," was evidently popular and will be a Pittsburgh favorite if he does so well in the future. Georgie Dickson, of course, was excellent as "Colleen Bawn." This evening Mr. Collins will appear in the pieces entitled "The Irish Ambassador" and "His Last Legs." These are said to be among Mr. Collins's greatest specialties.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC.—The season was inaugurated most auspiciously at the Academy of Music last evening. The audience was very large, many ladies being present. The welcome to the new candidates for public favor brought out by Manager Beamer was very flattering. The first part of the entertainment consisted of songs, dances, etc., and all were first rate. The performances of Sadi D'Jalma, who is very properly called "the boneless man," were truly wonderful. He can twist himself into the most unnatural shapes with the greatest of ease. The bell solo by Julian Breban was good, as were the Irish sketches of Carleton; Scottish songs by Agnes Sutherland; songs and dances by Charles Benedict, Larry Tooley and Dick Ralph. The performance concluded with the burlesque entitled "Bad Dickey." M. W. Fiske taking the role of the Duke of Gloster. His rendition of the character of the hump-backed tyrant was decidedly original. In this line of characters he has few peers on the American stage. He is far superior to Leffingwell, not depending, as does the latter, on vulgar double entendres for his "hits." Miss Marion Fiske performed the part of Henri, Duke of Richmond, most acceptably. She has a beautiful face and figure, and does everything with a naivete that is charming. Mr. Carleton, as Tyrrell, was very good. Mr. M. C. Daly, as the Duchess of York, came in for a good share of the applause. Miss Kate Brevoort as Lady Anne, and Miss Jennie Brunell as Princess Elizabeth, gave general satisfaction. The songs interspersed through the piece were well rendered and well received. Taken altogether, no more successful initial performance has ever been given in our city than that at the Academy last evening. This evening the same bill will be presented.

VARIETIES THEATER.—There is no falling off in the attendance at this favorite resort. Mr. Aims, the manager, has gathered about him a company that cannot fail to give an entertainment which will please all who witness it. Mr. Jester, the "man with the talking hand," is well worth going to see.

THE MENAGERIE.—Van Amburgh's Golden Menagerie will enter the city this morning between eight and nine o'clock, in order not to interfere with the military parade. The cages and carriages required to transport the living curiosities make a procession over a mile in length, which will pass through the principal streets of the city, and thence to the Fair grounds. The first exhibition will be given at two o'clock this afternoon, and another in the evening. Persons attending in the evening will not be required to purchase tickets of admission to the fair. Extra cars will be run on the Penn street road to accommodate visitors to the Menagerie.

The Shivering Season.

The loss to the laboring classes of the United States caused by fever and ague, has been estimated at upwards of two millions of dollars per annum. Whole settlements are sometimes prostrated by the disease, and it is regarded in some localities as one of those visitations of providence which cannot be avoided. This is a mistake. As certainly as any of the evils which are invited by neglect are forestalled by precaution—so certainly may an attack of intermittent (or remittent) fever be prevented by invigorating the system with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, in advance of the season at which this malady prevails. Prevention, it is needless to say, is the wisest policy; but it is consoling to know that where time has not been thus taken by the forelock, and the paroxysms have actually commenced, a complete cure may, in all cases, be rapidly effected by the use of this powerful vegetable tonic. The reputation of the Bitters as a specific for dyspepsia, liver complaint, constipation and nervous debility, has in some measure thrown into the shade its merits as a preventive and cure of other ailments, but all who have ever taken it, either as a protection against or a remedy for malarious fevers, will admit that it surpasses in efficiency all the so-called specifics (including quinine) usually prescribed for these maladies, while it is at the same time entirely harmless and decidedly palatable.

Skillful Management Secures Success.

Success in all branches of business, to a great extent, depends on the practical knowledge of those who have charge of the management, and details of the business. Any business directed and managed by unskillful men is a game of chance, with more probability of losing than winning. The laboring man, the farmer, the mechanic, the minister, the lawyer, the physician, the banker, the merchant, the manufacturer, the politician and statesman, must understand the business engaged in, or incur the probability of failure and disappointment. Nine-tenths of the failures in all branches of business, result from a want of skill, and in ninety-nine cases out of every hundred where success is attained, it can be directly or indirectly attributed to skillful care and intelligent management. We are led to the above reflections by the late arrival of clothing and furnishing goods at the extensive establishment of Urling, Follansbee & Co., corner of Fifth avenue and Wood street, said arrival reminding us forcibly of the unprecedented success of the firm in question, all the result of skillful management. The present stock of goods is larger than any of its predecessors, and the prices will be much lower than heretofore.

Admission to the Menagerie: 50 cents; Children under 9 years, 25 cents. Visitors to the NIGHT Exhibitions will be admitted to the Park without purchasing Fair Tickets.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

It should be distinctly understood that this is NOT A CIRCUS, but a Colossal Exhibition of Living Wild Animals, forming the largest and most complete Zoological Collection ever brought together on this continent. There has been no such exhibition in this city for a long time, and the public may rely upon witnessing an exposition of animated nature surpassing anything and everything of the kind hitherto achieved by private enterprise, either in this country or Europe. The Van Amburgh Menagerie has been established for nearly half a century and has always been acknowledged as the most complete Zoological Collection extant; and this year it is larger and more full in every department than at any previous time. Entirely free from all features of a questionable tendency, and eminently instructive in its character, this mammoth exhibition offers to old and young an opportunity for viewing the rarest varieties of the animal kingdom such as is not likely to occur again for many years.
